BURDETT SHOOTS HIMSELF ON ROOF TO AVOID ARREST

Was Wanted by County Police and Was Being Hotly Pursued When He Jumped From Roof of 21 West Baker to Roof of Woman's Club.

HOOK AND LADDER REMOVES THE BODY

Carl Burdett, Brother of the Young Man, Was Bound Over Tuesday in the Municipal Court on Charge of Auto Stealing.

A few seconds after he had jumped from the roof of 21 West Baker street to the roof of the Woman's club next door, two pistol shots rang out, and Walter Burdett, aged 20 years, wanted on the charge of stealing automobiles, and hotly pursued by County Policemen T. J. Davis and A. J. Carroll, fell to the roof with a gaping wound in his body which was self-inflicted.

Death was instant. The bullet penetrated the heart.

Prior to firing the fatal shot the young man fired at one of the county officers.

Shortly after the shot was fired Dr. Robert Grambling phoned to the fire department and the hook and ladder responded and removed the body of the young man.

Walter Burdett was the brother of Carl Burdett, who was yesterday bound over in the municipal court on the charge of stealing automobiles. They lived on State street.

County Policemen Davis and Carroll had been pursuing Burdett all day. Shortly before 1 o'clock they traced him to 21 West Baker street. The occupant of this house refused to grant them permission to enter. Thereupon they telephoned the chief of police, who told them to go into the house regardless of the occupant.

A moment later young Burdett was seen to leap from the roof of 21 West Baker to the roof of the Woman's club next door, a distance of eight feet. Two shots rang out. The county and city police present at the time state that they did not fire, and supposition is that the young man shot himself rather than be captured.

YOUNG BURGLAR NABBED IN HEART OF THE CITY.

Henry Bone, aged 19 years, son of Policeman W. H. Bone, of the evening watch, was arrested last night by Patrolman W. E. Chapman, in the act of burglarizing the cigar store of F. R. Barford, Jr., 69 East Alabama street.

When discovered young Bone threw up his hands and surrendered, attempting no resistance. In his pockets was found $1.95 in nickels and dimes, and there was a 5-cent piece on the floor beside the cash register.

Mr. Barford, when called up by telephone last night, stated that he had left $2 in nickels and dimes in the cash register.

Young Bone, who gave his occupation as plumber, was out of work, according to his statement.

He evidently had a confederate, for as Patrolman Chapman approached the store, a man, standing some yards away, ran rapidly away.

Bone's father was deeply grieved over the affair. Long and Austin responded to the call of Patrolman Chapman and helped search the store.

TRAP SET IN ALBANIA.

Reported Object Is to Engage Italy More Deeply.

Rome, Italy, January 5.—Revolution in Albania is extending. Assertions are made here that it is fomented by certain Austrian and Turkish elements with the object of forcing Servia and Montenegro to employ some of their troops along the Albanian frontiers. Another object, it is said, is to engage Italy more deeply in Albania, thus distracting her attention from the main conflict.

Rome newspapers without distinction urge the government not to fall into the trap, as it is called, and to reserve all the energies of the country for the conservation of Italy's supreme interests as involved in the European war.

SAILOR KILLED BOXING.

U. S. Seaman Dies After Friendly Bout on Florida.

Washington, January 5.—Edward C. Ott, ordinary seaman on the battleship Florida, at New York, was killed Saturday night in a boxing match aboard the ship. No details have been received by the navy department here.

New York, January 5.—It was said aboard the Florida today that Ott was boxing with an ordinary seaman named Walsh. Both men were wearing gloves. Walsh, it was said, hit his opponent on the chin, and he fell to the deck.

Walsh was placed under technical arrest, and is now a prisoner-at-large aboard the Florida, pending investigation.

Three Are Electrocuted.

Trenton, N. J., January 5.—Three men were electrocuted at the state prison tonight, marking the first triple execution since the electric chair was installed in New Jersey. The three were negroes, and paid the death penalty for murder.

150,000 Prisoners Will Be Liberated By Pope's Proposal

England and Germany to Exchange the Severely Wounded — Others Indorse Plan.

London, January 5.—The official information bureau announced tonight that an agreement had been reached between England and Germany for exchange of prisoners who are incapable of further service. The announcement follows:

"On December 10 the British government proposed to the German government, through the United States, that arrangements be made for exchange of British and German officers and men, prisoners of war, who were physically incapacitated for further military service. The acceptance of this offer by the German government was conveyed to the British government on the 31st. Arrangements are being made to give effect to it."

Rome, January 5.—Replies received by Pope Benedict from sovereigns with whom he sought to arrange the exchange of wounded prisoners of war were given out at the vatican today. The first answer, from King George, said:

"It is with pleasure that I thank your holiness for your telegram. With profound satisfaction, my government received the proposal of your holiness, which gave strength to the suggestions we already had made to the German government; which government has notified us just at this moment of their consent. I trust that an agreement will be effectuated before many days pass from the new year."

London, January 6.—A Reuter's dispatch from Vienna says Emperor Francis Joseph has replied to Pope Benedict's appeal that his government cordially agrees with the pope's proposal for the liberation of prisoners of war unfit for military service, and will immediately open negotiations with the other governments concerned.

It is estimated that not less than 150,000 prisoners, unfit for further war service, will be liberated through adherence to the pope's proposal for an exchange by King George, Emperor William, Emperor Nicholas, Emperor Francis Joseph, King Ludweg of Bavaria, King Peter of Servia and the sultan of Turkey. President Poincare also is known to favor the plan.

BELGIAN PRIMATE HELD.

Cardinal Mercier Reported Arrested by Germans.

Amsterdam, January 5.—(Via London.)—A Tijd dispatch from Rosendaal, says that Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium and Archbishop of Malines, was arrested by German authorities and held a prisoner in his own archepiscopal palace at Malines under military guard.

The report, which has not been confirmed, says the cardinal was arrested because he issued a pastoral letter, read Sunday in churches throughout Belgium, which referred to the occupation of Belgium, as follows:

"This power has no legal authority, and consequently you owe it in your heart neither allegiance nor obedience. The only legal authority in Belgium is that appertaining to our king, his government and the representatives of the nation."

The Hague, January 5.—(Via London.)—Cardinal Mercier was expected to deliver a sermon at Antwerp Sunday, but failed to appear, and Father Rutten, addressing the congregation, said:

"Antwerp always belonged to the Antwerpians, and it will be theirs in the future. The reason why I, instead of the cardinal, address you is that owing to exceptional circumstances his eminence is prevented from attending."

This statement is the sole foundation for the report that Cardinal Mercier has been arrested.

LEAVES FOR ROTTERDAM

City of Savannah Now Carrying Cotton Across Ocean.

Wilmington, N. C., January 5.—Significant of the attractiveness of the transatlantic rates and the scarcity of neutral vessels to transport American goods to Europe is the sailing from here today of the American passenger steamer City of Savannah with a cargo of 9,529 bales of cotton for Rotterdam. The City of Savannah usually plies between New York and Savannah, Ga., which run the vessel left to enter the transatlantic freight rates.

The Danish steamer Osborn, with a cargo of 3,000 tons of oil-cake, sailed for Odense, Denmark, today.

DARES NORTH SEA MINES.

Pilot Refused, U. S. Skipper Carries Cotton to Bremen.

Bremen, January 5—(Via The Hague and London.)—Through the daring of an American skipper, the steamer El Monte, with 6,000 bales of cotton, which sailed from Galveston, Texas, December 3, arrived at Bremen on January 1. The cotton was the first to reach this port during the war.

After the El Monte reached the Hook of Holland the Dutch pilots refused to assist her captain, Edward T. Pinchin. They declared it was impossible on account of mines to make the trip.

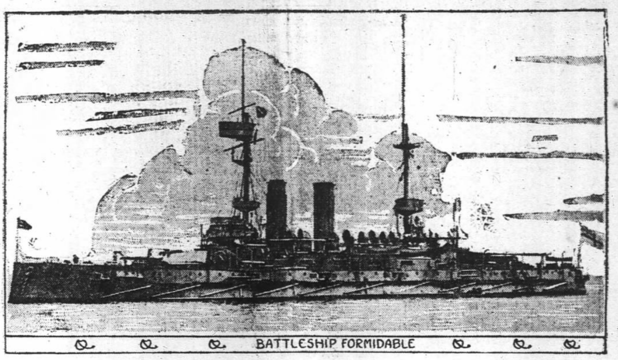
Captain Pinchin, however, was determined to go on, so he proceeded without a pilot, picking his own course without mine charts or other aid. He safely reached Bremen, greatly to the amazement of the Germans.

The El Monte is to return to America with 1,500 tons of mixed cargo.

CLEMENCY OF BLEASE GRANTED NINE MORE

Columbia, S. C., January 5.—Clemency was granted by Governor Blease today to nine convicts of the state, making the total during the four years of his administration in excess of 1,650. Three were convicted of manslaughter and two of criminal assault. This number included five paroles, two pardons and two commutations of sentence. None of them had extra-state reputations.

ENGLAND'S LOSSES ON SEA GREATER THAN THOSE OF HER ENEMY, GERMANY



BATTLESHIP FORMIDABLE

Although authoritative records show that Great Britain has lost so far in the war seventeen warships as against Germany's thirty, the men, tonnage and armament lost is far to the advantage of Germany. It is also significant that the severest losses in this respect have been met with by the British in their home waters, as the result of the "wearing down" process followed by the Germans in making excursions with submarines from behind their mined barriers at Helgoland. The Formidable makes the third "big ship" to be lost by the British in home waters. The Bulwark, also a pre-dreadnaught, was blown up at the mouth of the Thames on November 26, and the Audacious, a super-dreadnaught, was sunk off the north coast of Ireland on October 27. The Bulwark may have been destroyed through an internal explosion. The Audacious probably met her fate through a mine, although the British admiralty has not yet even announced her loss. Aside from the total complements of the Good Hope and the Monmouth, numbering 1,654 men, lost off the Chilean coast on November 1, Germany's "wearing down" tactics accounts for the majority of the remainder, 4,800 in killed, as recently announced by the admiralty. Germany's entire loss is believed to be about 2,400, but no figures are accessible.

Germany Does Not Expect U. S. to Stop War Exports

BRITAIN TO REFUSE CERTIFIED CARGOES

England Cannot Give Up Right of Search Because of Possibility of Shifting Cargoes at Sea.

London, January 5.—Although the foreign office regards with high favor the American government's plan of certifying cargoes destined for Europe, it was said today that England cannot accept such certification as an absolute guaranty of the nature of the cargo in case cause for suspicion arises after a vessel leaves America. In other words, the right of search cannot be waived because of the possibility of shifting cargoes at sea.

The waiving of the right of search, in the opinion of prominent British officials, would be an invitation for smugglers to carry contraband to sea in small boats and then retransfer it to a ship of certified cargo. The position is precisely the same as that taken by the foreign office concerning certification of manifests by British consuls at American ports.

The government constantly is in communication with representatives of Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland, and it is reported these nations are taking steps to revise their lists of prohibited exports to correspond with the British contraband list. That would make possible a resumption of shipping to neutral European countries from America without delays or danger of seizure.

Plan Pleases Britons.

A decidedly favorable impression has been produced here by the the American certification plan. British officials regard the suggestion as a further manifestation of a desire to hasten a satisfactory settlement of the situation.

Owing to failure of the London newspapers to discuss the preliminary negotiations between Ambassador Page and Foreign Secretary Grey, extending over several weeks before the American note was presented, the English public was not well advised concerning the differences which grew up. Even now the opinion is quite general, notwithstanding publication of the American note, that President Wilson denied England's right of search. Consequently much of the shock occasioned by the presentation of the American note was due to misapprehension and now is disappearing on account of the calm and friendly attitude of the government.

Great Britain was informed today of the decision of Washington authorizes to certify American cargoes as to their exact contents before they leave United States ports.

It was felt here that would assist appreciably in solving difficulties which led to presentation of the protest concerning British interference with American shipping.

Ambassador Page received today from Secretary Bryan an outline of the circular to American shippers, which urges that all manifests be made complete and accurate as a protection against delays of cargoes. It states that efforts to conceal the real nature of goods covered by the manifests may result in great delay and work decided hardships to American shipping. The treasury department offers to furnish agents who will supervise the leading cargoes and furnish certificates as to the completeness and accuracy of the manifests.

Secretary Bryan's message makes it clear that inspection of American cargoes by treasury officials is not obligatory.

Shippers Are Notified.

Washington, January 5.—The notice to shippers, drawn by the state, treasury and commerce departments, after being sent to Ambassador Page, was sent throughout the country today.

"The government," says the notice, "looks with confidence for co-operation from the American business public to prevent such action on the part of shippers as adds unnecessarily to the difficulties of business at this time. Whenever shippers desire such aid in carrying on their foreign business, the treasury department will furnish, upon application to the customs collector at any port, an officer to supervise the loading of cargo and to certify to the completeness and accuracy of the manifest.

"As a further precaution, it is suggested that the shippers accompany ship's manifest with an affidavit stating that the articles shipped are correctly shown by the manifest and that the packages contain nothing except that which is shown there."

"High Authorities" in Berlin Quoted in Opposition to Bartholdt's Resolution.

Washington, January 5.—Germany does not expect legislation in this country to prevent exportation of arms and ammunition to the European belligerents, according to statements today before the house foreign affairs committee. Chairman Flood, of the committee, said he understood the German foreign office had taken that position, and Representative Metz told the committee he recently had talked with "high authorities" in Berlin who held that the United States was within its rights in permitting trade in war supplies with the belligerents.

Chairman Flood made his statement in the course of an argument with Representative Bartholdt, who was before the committee in support of his resolution, empowering the president to prohibit such exportations. Mr. Bartholdt said that his opposition to the traffic in war supplies would not be influenced by the German government, but was based on a sense of "international morality."

Today's session concluded the case presented by the supporters of the resolution. It is probable its opponents will be heard later. Chairman Flood and other democratic members of the committee do not favor any action at this time which would alter this country's relations with European nations.

No Formal Communication.

So far as is known, there has been no formal communication from the German government in connection with the recent agitation against shipment of war munitions to the allies.

Chairman Flood made his statement to Representative Bartholdt, who was making a general argument for his resolution to stop exports, at a public hearing today.

"Suppose," he asked Bartholdt, "that you understood that the German government, through the German foreign office, had said that it did not expect this government to pass this legislation. Would you support it?"

Representative Bartholdt asserted he knew nothing of the German government's attitude and that he and his associates opposed exportation of arms on grounds of "international immorality."

Chairman Flood repeated the statement in his question, then added:

"I said that they realize, and so state, that they do not expect this government to pass this legislation."

"The state department," said Chairman Flood to Representative Bartholdt, "has investigated your charges that dum-dum bullets were being shipped from this country to the allies. They have found that not more than 700 of these bullets have left the country and that none of them would fit modern military rifles."

Bartholdt Accuses Canada.

Representative Bartholdt said he had heard that the neutrality of the United States had been violated by shipments of Canadian troops over American territory, in Maine, on their way to the war zone.

"If that is true," said Representative Temple, "it is unquestionably an unneutral act. I think we should have some evidence beyond such a charge as that."

Representative Bartholdt said he knew of the incident only as a matter of gossip, but that he would try to investigate.

"Shipment of war supplies to belligerent nations," said Chairman Flood, "has been recognized for 100 years as a right of our citizens by the law of nations. When this war began that right was recognized. England, through her foresight and the expenditure of her treasure, had gained control of the seas. It would be for her disadvantage to change this situation now. Would it not be an unneutral act?"

Supporters of the resolutions, Representative Bartholdt said, were trying to go deeper than technical phases of international law. He said that only "equality toward all" could morally justify the exercise of the right to ship arms to belligerents.

"Without that moral background," he said, "the right should not be exercised. Now we are actually waging war on Germany and Austria, and the guns and bullets we ship are killing the kinsmen of 25,000,000 Americans. We contend that all of the moral support has been taken from behind this paper neutrality, and that real neutrality demands that further shipments of war supplies be prohibited."

Chairman Flood's statement was in-

CARRANZA'S ARMY CAPTURES PUEBLA

Villa and Zapata Troops Killed or Captured in the Swiftest and Bloodiest Battle of Mexican War.

Vera Cruz, January 5.—Puebla, capital of the state of Puebla, evacuated a month ago by Carranza, was retaken today after a campaign which began with the capture of Tepeaca, a short distance southeast of Puebla, six days ago.

The fall of Puebla came after six hours of what is described as the most furious bombardment to which any Mexican force has yet been subjected.

General Alvaro Obregon, commanding the Carranza force, worked into a position about the city last night with troops reported to have aggregated not less than 30,000 men. He had determined to make the battle as short as possible and throw nearly all his men into action, beginning the fighting early in the morning.

Advanced Under Fire.

After pounding with ninety-two cannon the enemy's positions, reported held by 15,000 men, Obregon's army advanced under fire of the enemy's artillery.

When Obregon left Vera Cruz he told friends that he would be in possession of Puebla in eight days. This time was not up until tonight. Tepeaca, Amozoc and other small towns and villages have been taken since his departure and Obregon had made his headquarters division base at Apizaco, where the railroad from Puebla joins the main line of the Mexican railway. Last night he moved this force southward and another force toward the west, cutting both railroads over which the Villa and Zapata forces might proceed toward Mexico City.

Generals Alvaredo and Mallen commanded the forces moving from the east, and had under their direction most of the cannon. That numerous cannon of high grade and an abundance of ammunition were in Obregon's possession was known here, but that he intended to employ so many pieces in one action came as a surprise.

Killed or Captured.

How many of the Villa and Zapata troops escaped is not known, but early reports of the fighting indicate that the greater part of them either were killed or made prisoners. From these reports it would seem that in few of the battles that have occurred in Mexico has the slaughter been so swift and so great.

The hardest part of the action was fought outside the city proper. The dead and wounded are said to cover the ground at some places and to be strewn plentifully across a field whose diameter from west to east is some twelve miles. The bombardment from the 92 cannon was almost incessant, according to the official report.

Communication with Puebla was not established until tonight. Just who was in command of the capital forces is not yet known, but their leaders are reported to have been Andrew Almazan and Eufemio Zapata, a brother of Emiliano.

A brief message received at midday announced the result of the fighting and the garrison in Vera Cruz, with their bands, paraded the streets in honor of the victory. The ringing of church bells conveyed the news to the populace.

SUBMARINES SUCCEEDED.

Austrian Battleships Torpedoed, Says Report.

Geneva, Switzerland, January 5.—(Via Paris.)—Recent reports that the Austrian battleships Viribus Unitis and Radetzke had been damaged during the attack by the Anglo-French fleet on Pola were confirmed in a dispatch received by The Geneva Tribune today from Triest. The message said both battleships were torpedoed and greatly damaged. They will be useless for a long time.

A Venice dispatch, December 31, said the Viribus Unitis, one of the largest ships of the Austrian navy, had been torpedoed by a French submarine. The damage sustained by the Radetzke, a smaller battleship, was said at the time to have been due not to a torpedo, but to the fire from the Austrian forts at Pola, mistakenly directed against the Austrain warships.

RUSS FORCES OVERWHELM TURK INVADING COLUMNS; ENTIRE CORPS CAPTURED

Holding Village of Steinbach, French Army Is Now Less Than Thirty Miles From River Rhine.

RUSSIANS IN HUNGARY CAPTURE EIGHT TOWNS AND SURROUND ENEMY

Little News From Poland, Though German War Office Claims Kaiser's Forces Are Continuing Advance on Warsaw.

London, January 5.—Two of the three Turkish columns, which last week invaded the Russian Caucasus, have met with disaster, and the troops not killed or captured are in disorderly retreat. The column which took Ardahan two days ago has been driven out of that town, according to Petrograd official dispatches, and is almost surrounded by the Russians, who hold the main roads. Another column, which crossed the frontier near Sari Kamysh on the road to Kars, has suffered even worse defeat, one of the two army corps which composed it being captured in its entirety.

The Russians also report another victory over the Austrians, in the Uzsok pass of the Carpathians. Emperor Francis Joseph's army in this region is declared to be in full retreat in a mountain pass deep in snow, with Russian cavalry attacking its flanks and rear.

By forcing this pass, the Russians gain control of some of the most valuable oil fields in Austria, and thus shut off another source of fuel supplies, which the Austro-German armies are said to need so much.

While forcing back the Turks and Austrians, the Russian troops are holding the line of the Mazurian lakes in East Prussia; are fighting strenuously to withstand the German offensive in North Poland; are advancing towards Cracow, and have crossed Bukowina, which is now virtually in their possession.

GERMANS HELD BACK BY SEVERE WEATHER.

In North Poland, where Russia is confronted with the most serious task, the weather is proving a useful ally. The Germans, according to their accounts, are making only slow progress with their offensive operations.

Military men look for bigger events between the lower Vistula and the East Prussian frontier. The Russians hold the greater part of the intervening territory, and, unless engaged when the river freezes, would fall on the German flank south of the river. It is believed here, therefore, that the Germans plan a movement from Thorn and East Prussia to prevent this action. The fighting would take place in the open.

Except at the two extreme wings on the Belgian coast and in upper Alsace, where the allies have gained some ground, fighting on the western front has been done by sappers, miners and artillery. Only at isolated points has the infantry been given its opportunity. A few hundred yards have been gained by the allies among the dunes of Flanders.

Great interest attaches to French operations in upper Alsace. The capture of Steinbach was accomplished after almost superhuman efforts. Now the French are attempting to force their way through to Cernay (Sennheim), the possession of which would open the door to Muelhausen.

One of the lessons the war has taught Russia is that the port of Archangel, its only large seaport on the North coast and the most northerly point in the railway system of Europe, can be kept open most of the

"SHIP TRUST" FIGHTING MEASURE, HE DECLARES

Congressman Saunders Opposes Bill, Declaring It Would Breed International Complications.

Boston, Mass., January 5.—The advisability of government purchase of ships as proposed in a bill pending in congress was debated at a "merchant marine" dinner of the chamber of commerce tonight. Congressman Joshua W. Alexander, of Missouri, sponsor for the bill, characterized it as the "Magna Charta of American shipping."

Congressman E. W. Saunders, of Virginia, objected to the proposal as a poor business proposition and a breeder of delicate international complications. He said "the bill is the most radical innovation upon federal policies since the civil war. It is substantially, if not avowedly, socialistic."

"I am opposed to this measure among other serious reasons," said Congressman Saunders, "because it is in flat contravention of the plank adopted at the Baltimore convention on the subject of merchant marine. The scheme, which would require an appropriation of approximately $10,000,000 and an issue of bonds to the extent of possibly $30,000,000, falls within the condition of this plank, which is directed against measures imposing additional burdens on the people."

Called Magna Charta.

"The Magna Charta of American shipping, proclaiming freedom from the feudal barons of maritime commerce," was the way Representative Alexander characterized the bill.

After explaining the pending bill to authorize the government to create an American merchant marine by purchase and reviewing the merchant marine situation, Mr. Alexander launched into an analysis of what he contended was opposition to the measure.

"To sum up the entire situation," he said, "an investigation will prove that more than 90 per cent of the coastwise and virtually the entire foreign American shipping is allied through interlocking directorates with banks that have for their fountain head the Rockefeller-Morgan-Perkins interests. It is against this aggregation that the administration finds itself. The shipping interests realize that the entrance of the government into the field will break the chain by which they have independents shut out. Government-owned vessels are what they most fear, for it means a protection for the independent, who now dares, at his peril, to invest a dollar in shipping against the powerful organization. It is said the same interests own or are interested in several eastern newspapers. Therefore, you find a stalwart opposition by the eastern newspapers to the government policy.

Not Emergency Measure.

"The new navigation law is good, but of what benefit is it when the small investor meets the death throttle of under-bidding competition? The Alexander bill is spoken of as an 'emergency measure.' It should not be so called. European governments have laid the foundation for their merchant marine by government protection. The bill for the government-ownership of vessels should be properly called the Magna Charta of American shipping, proclaiming freedom from the feudal barons of maritime commerce.

"The cry of paternalism has been raised, the criticisms of government ownership has been advanced and several large news and financial papers of eastern cities appear daily with editorials denouncing the administration's policy. These papers, being the recipients of large incomes from advertising contracts with the steamship companies, are naturally opposed to a plan inimicable to the interests of their customers. The greatest opposing power, however, is from the steamship companies themselves.

"An investigation of the shipping question reveals some interesting facts. In committee investigation of shipping combinations, it was shown that a regular system of agreements and pools prevail, against which the independent shipper has no chance to live. The merchant marine committee, in its recommendations, state: 'The committee believes that the disadvantages and abuses connected with steamship agreements and conferences as now conducted are inherent, and can only be eliminated by effective government control; and it is such control that the committee recommends as the means of preserving to American exporters and importers the advantages enumerated, and of preventing the abuses complained of.'

To Kill Competition.

"In the investigation by the committee it developed that certain ships were regularly used solely for the purpose of killing competition. The shipping interests, it is believed, fear that the entrance of government-owned ships will mean government regulation of rates and seriously interfere with existing of conference control of lines of foreign commerce with the United States.

"An examination of the personnel of those interested in the various steam-winter with the aid of ice breakers. Archangel generally is frozen over for months, but it has been kept open thus far.

The house of lords will meet tomorrow and Earl Kitchener, secretary for war, is expected to make a statement on the progress of the war and British preparations.

TURKS DECISIVELY BEATEN BY RUSSIA.

Petrograd, January 5.—It is officially announced that the Russian troops have gained a decisive victory at Sari Kamysh. The entire Ninth army corps of the Turks was captured.

The following report, received from the Russian headquarters in the Caucasus, was made public tonight:

"Last night our troops won a complete victory over the Turks at Sari Kamysh. We have beaten two Turkish army corps and made the entire Ninth Turkish army corps, including its commander and three division commanders, prisoners.

"Small bodies of Turkish troops, which succeeded in escaping, were rigorously pursued and destroyed.

"We continue pursuit of the other parts of the Turkish forces, which are in full retreat."

France, January 5.—The official statement tonight says:

"Grand Duke Nicholas has addressed to General Joffre the following telegarm:

"'I hasten to inform you of the joyful news that the army of the caucasus, notwithstanding that its forces have been reduced to a minimum with a view not to weaken the army in the principal theater of the war, has won two decisive victories—on December 21 and 22 (January 3 and 4, modern calendar)—against Turkish forces superior in number, at Ardahan against the First corps, and at Sari Kamysh against the Ninth and Tenth Turkish corps. The entire Ninth corps has capitulated; the Tenth corps is making every effort to withdraw, but is being pursued by our troops."

General Joffre has sent the following reply:

"'I pray your imperial highness to accept my warm felicitations for the great victory won by the army of the Caucasus. By their constant and uninterrupted effort in all the theaters of operations the armies of the allies are preparing the definite victories of the future.

FRENCH CONTINUING ADVANCE IN ALSACE.

London, January 5.—The right wing of the French army is today less than thirty miles from the River Rhine, holding the Alsatian village of Steinbach and the heights to the southeast after one of the most stubborn localized fights of the war. At no other point of the western front has there been any noteworthy change.

German defenders of Alsace continue losing ground before the French advance. In today's official statements Berlin, as well as Paris, speaks of fighting east of Steinbach, showing the French have pushed beyond that recently captured village. The Paris announcement gives the first intimation of another French advance into Alsace near Orberg, fourteen miles west of Colmar, capital of upper Alsace.

Infantry fighting has been resumed in Belgium, and the French report says ground was won by the allies near Nieuport. Elsewhere military activity is generally confined to artillery duels.

Few further particulars were received concerning the eastern campaign. The Berlin war office states the advance east of Bolimow, toward Warsaw, is continuing, although Petrograd claims the Germans, after capturing Russian positions at Bolimow, were compelled to abandon them.

The war spirit in Italy has been revived by the death on a French battlefield of a grandson of Garibaldi. Italy will have about 1,000,000 men under arms by the end of this month, and a reserve of another million is being formed. Secret committees are being formed for the enlistment of volunteers.

EIGHT HUN TOWNS TAKEN BY RUSSIA.

Further Russian successes against Austrians are described in unofficial dispatches from Petrograd. According to these advices, the Russian troops which were said several days ago to have penetrated the Carpathian passes and begun an invasion of Hungary in force have captured eight Hungarian towns and surrounded several divisions of Austrian troops in the mountains.

There was no official confirmation of those statements, however, and the latest official announcement from Vienna asserts the Austrian forces in Galicia have captured strong positions and are preparing for further operations.

Although it is admitted in Petrograd that the Germans occupied Russian positions at Bolimow, on the battle front before Warsaw, the Russian war office states the invaders later were driven back, abandoning six machine guns.

Except for the advance of the French into Alsace, there is little activity in the west. Both sides apparently are content for the present to hold their entrenched positions, leaving the fighting largely to artillery.

QUARRY AND TRENCHES CAPTURED BY FRENCH.

Paris, January 5.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"Last night our troops took possession of a quarry situated at the crossing of the road from Rouvois to St. Mihiel, and that from Mazey to St. Mihiel and also some neighboring trenches.

"There is no other operation to report. The weather continues to be very bad, with incessant rains."

Afternoon Statement.

The French official statement, given out by the war office this afternoon, conveys the first intimation of another French advance into Alsace, at a point near Orbey or Urbeis, some fourteen miles west of Colmar. It sets forth also that the French advances in the direction of Cornay (Sennheim), southeast of Steinbach, have been maintained. There are six points on the battle front where artillery engagements have taken place, and the Belgian artillery is described as active in Flanders. Advances near St. Georges also are claimed. The text of the communication follows:

"In Belgium, in spite of the condition of the ground and the difficulties which result, our infantry made progress in the sand dunes in front of Nieuport. In the region of St. Georges our men advanced at different places 200, 300 and 500 yards, occupying houses and some trenches. At several points the Belgian artillery reduced to silence the artillery of the Germans.

German Sappers Stopped.

"From Lys to the Oise, in the region of Notre Dame de Lorette to the west of Lens, we were successful, thanks to our mortars and our hand grenades, in completely stopping the sapping labors of the enemy. In the vicinity of the Lille highway the Germans blew up one of our trenches and then took possession of it, but an immediate counter-attack again put us in possession of it.

"From the Oise to the Vosges no infantry activity has been reported. In the region of Craonne and in the vicinity of Rheims there have been artillery engagements. Our batteries effectively bombarded the positions of the enemy in the town of La Suippe, as well as in the region of Perthes and in the vicinity of Beausejour. There was similar activity in the Argonne and on the heights of the Meuse.

"In Alsace, to the southeast of the Col (Mount) du Bonhomme, we have entered the hamlet of Creux d'Argent, two kilometers west of Ordey, where we are organizing our position. The gains realized by us on the road from Thann to Cernay have been maintained at a distance one kilometer to the east of Old Thann. Furthermore, the fire of our heavy artillery at a point two kilometers east of Purnhaupt-le-Haut silenced the artillery of the enemy."

SENTIMENT FOR WAR REVIVES IN ITALY.

Rome, Italy, January 5.—(Via Paris) Lieutenant Bruno Garibaldi's death on the French battlefield has caused a revival of public sentiment for war throughout Italy, that feeling being augmented by belief that Italian military preparations now have been perfected. About 1,000,000 men will be under arms this month and another million are organizing into a reserve.

Italian artillery regiments have been provided with new cannon which Italian military experts consider superior to the guns of Austria-Hungary and Germany.

Special secret committees are organizing for the enlistment of volunteers. It is said to be the intention to form a body about six thousand men strong, the force to be commanded by Captain Ricciotti Garibaldi, who will have his sons as lieutenants.

CAPTURE OF BORJIMOW HELD VERY IMPORTANT.

Berlin, January 5.—The German capture of Borjimow, in Poland, on the road to Warsaw, is deemed highly important in a statement given out today by the official press bureau.

"Its possession greatly faciliates the advance on Warsaw," the statement declares, "and the Lokal Anzeiger's military critic regards it as probable the Germans will break through the Russian lines here unless the Russians forestall this by a general retreat."

The statement continues:

"The situation south of the Vistula is regarded as promising more rapid developments this week.

"The Austrian official bulletin also is more reassuring. It says repeated Russian efforts to break the Austrian lines west and northeast of Gorlice, near the Carpathians, have failed with heavy losses for the Russians. The Austrians took by storm the heights south of Gorlice, capturing 850 prisoners.

"The Turkish bulletin represents the Caucasus situation as favorable. Heavy fighting at Sari Kamysh has brought a decisive Turkish victory. The Turks have taken 2,000 prisoners, eight cannon and thirteen machine guns since Christmas, besides large stores of ammunition and provisions."

PROGRESS ON BZURA CLAIMED BY BERLIN.

Berlin, January 5.—(By Wireless to London, 2:55 p. m.)—The German official statement on the progress of military operations, given out this afternoon, declares that fighting at a point 2 miles to the east of Steinbach resulted in the French being driven back. French attacks were repulsed in the Argonne and near Arras. In northern Poland the situation is said to be unchanged, while to the east of the Bzura river the German attacks are progressing. The text of the communication follows:

"In the western arena of the war, at a point north of Arras, we have blown up a French trench 200 yards in length; we also took some prisoners. The counter-attack of the enemy at this point failed.

"In the Argonne we repelled several French advances.

"A French attack between Steinbach and Uffholz was repulsed after a bayonet encounter. (Uffholz is 2 miles east of Steinbach and directly north of Sennheim (Cernay).

"In the eastern theater of the war the situation in East Prussia and in northern Poland remains unchanged. Our attacks east of the Bzura, near Kosslow-Bin-Skupi, and south of this location are progressing. We also advanced at a point northeast of Bolimow. There are no changes east of the Rawka nor east of the heights to the north of the Rawka.

'On the right bank of the Pilica the condition of the roads and the unfavorable weather are interfering with our movements."

FLEEING AUSTRIANS CUT UP BY CAVALRY.

Petrograd, January 5.—General headquarters has issued the following communication:

"On the left bank of the Vistula on January 4 rifle and artillery fire continued. Round about and south of Borjimow there have been separate engagements.

"In Galicia no essential modifications are to be noted. At Uzzok Pass the Austrians, in retreat, were attacked by our cavalry, which fell upon the flank and rear, after having made their way by mountain paths, obstructed by snow—this notwithstanding a violent snowstorm. In this attack we captured about 10 officers and more than 450 soldiers."

PRUSSIAN ATTEMPTS GORLICE FAIL.

Vienna, Austria, January 5.—(Via Berlin and Wireless to London.)—Army headquarters issued the following statement here today:

"The enemy's attacks to break through northwest of Gorlice again failed, at the cost of heavy Russian losses. The height south of Gorlice, which was fiercely contested, was taken and an unusually large hostile battalion was defeated.

"A field officer, four subalterns and 850 troops were captured, as welll as two machine guns. A hostile aeroplane also was shot down."

SHIP BILL MAGNA CHARTA OF AMERICAN TRADE

ship lines reveals a system of interlocking directorates and a community of interest probably unparalleled in the history of modern financiering.

"The administration, in its desire to benefit the people, has 'stepped on the toes' of the most powerful financial interest in the country. The same interests are associated both in the foreign and coastwise shipping. Nine-tenths of the Atlantic coast shipping is owned by the railroads and two corporations.

"The railroad-controlled lines referred to in a report of the merchant marine committees are the Southern Pacific, or Morgan line, the Old Dominion Steamship company and the Ocean Steamship company, or Savannah line. These, with the Eastern Steamship company and the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indian Steamship lines, constitute practically the entire coastwise shipping for the Atlantic seaboard. It is a remarkable fact that the interests allied in the ownership and control of all of these coastwise lines are also associated in the foreign American shipping.

Control of Companies.

"The Old Dominion Steamship company is controlled by the Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, Southern, Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk and Western railroads. The Merchants and Miners' Transportation company was until recently owned by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, which, from recent investigation by the interstate commerce commission and the department of justice, it was disclosed that this was controlled by J. P. Morgan & Co. The government required the railroad to sell the Merchants and Miners' interests. The new owners, however, belong to the same aggregation. The chairman of the board of directors of the Merchants and Miners' is on the board of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, of which J. P. Morgan & Co. are the fiscal agents, and others have similar affiliation. The Ocean Steamship company (the Savannah line) is owned by the Central of Georgia railroad. On its board are found gentlemen who are interested in New York banking houses with the Morgans and Rockefellers.

"The Eastern Steamship company is a holding company which controls and operates eleven different steamship lines of the New England coast and controls practically the entire trade of that region. The Eastern Steamship company is understood to be financed, and largely controlled, by Hayden, Stone & Co., of Boston and New York. The same firm is understood to control the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies steamship lines, of which company G. L. Stone is vice president, and H. R. Mallory, a member of the board of directors of the Eastern Steamship company, is president. The company owns the majority of the stock of the Clyde Line, the New York and Cuba line, Mallory Line and the entire stock of the New York and Porto Rico line and the Texas City Steamship company."

Great Britain and France have agreed with the United States that cotton shall not be regarded as contraband, and the United States is free to ship cotton to any of the belligerents; and the proposed ship purchase legislation, according to Mr. Alexander, is to remove the lack of ships and exorbitant freight, "now the obstacles in our way."

GENERAL GARIBALDI LOSES ANOTHER SON

Paris, January 5.—Another son of General Ricciotti Garibaldi and grandson of the great Italian patriot, has been killed in action, according to a semi-official note issued tonight. The French war minister, M. Millerand, has sent condolences to the family.

Lieutenant Bruno Garibaldi, according to announcement made in Paris December 30, was killed while leading a charge of Italian volunteers against the Germans in the Argonne district, France.

Mme. Gerville-Reache Dies.

BETTER ARMY AND NAVY PLANNED AT MEETING

Administration Leaders Hope to Improve Conditions Without Causing Deficit.

Washington, January 5.—Military preparedness was the subject of an administration conference tonight at the home of Secretary Garrison. Every feature of the army and navy situation, with particular reference to appropriations for the coming year and the general policy to be followed, was discussed. Cabinet officers and leaders in congress who participated declared no definite conclusions had been reported.

Attending the conference were Secretary Garrison, Secretary Daniels, Senators Chamberlain and Tillman, chairmen respectively of the senate military and naval committees; Representatives Hay and Padgett, chairmen respectively of the house military and naval committees; Representative Sherley, chairman of the house subcommittee on fortification appropriations, and Representative Underwood, majority house leader.

One of the chief purposes of the conference was to devise plans for co-operative action between the executive and legislative departments on military and naval affairs in making appropriations and carrying out a general program for increasing the efficiency of the military arm of the government.

On leaving the conference, one of the participants said that while no definite plan of procedure had been agreed on, every one present had conceded that every possible effort should be exerted in congress to bring the army and navy up to the highest standard of efficiency that could be produced with available resources.

"The chief subject of consideration," said Senator Tillman, "was how to do the greatest good for the army and navy without encountering a financial deficit."

Secretary Daniels said the whole naval and military situation had been thoroughly discussed, but would not discuss details of the conference.

Senator Chamberlain told inquirers the general discussion had dealt particularly with the financial condition of the government. He said there had been no proposals for radical or extraordinary changes in the military or naval forces, and that the condition of both was considered generally satisfactory.

"Nothing definite," Senator Chamberlain said, "was either discussed or decided upon. It is understood, however, that the bills affecting the naval establishment, which I have introduced, will be pressed in the senate."

These bills include measures to increase the army by 25,000 men and 1,000 officers, and to increase the coast artillery corps by 8,000 men.

BALTIMORE TO PROTEST RESERVE BANK DECISION

Washington, January 5.—Baltimore bankers will appear before the federal reserve board tomorrow to protest against the decision of the reserve bank organization committee in locating the federal reserve bank of the fifth district in Richmond instead of Baltimore.

This will be the first of a series of hearings to last about six weeks, and in which protests from various cities and localities against the work of the organization committee will be heard. The reserve board has authority under the law to change the committee's decisions, though action of this sort is not expected in many cases. It is probable that weeks will elapse before announcement in any of the cases is made.

Large delegations from both Baltimore and Richmond are expected tomorrow. The hearings will be public.

The line of argument to be followed by Baltimore lawyers was indicated tonight in a summary of a brief filed with the board.

The brief claims that Baltimore outranks Richmond in finance, commerce and industry by a ratio of five to one, and that the bank should have gone to the larger city. It puts forth the claim that the course of trade in the fifth district is towards Baltimore, and that Baltimore not only does a larger business than any other city in the fifth district, but does most of this business in the fifth district. The boundaries of the district, to a remarkable extent, coincide with the boundaries of the field of Baltimore's commercial predominance, the brief says.

The brief characterizes the reasoning of the organization committee as "juggling with figures." In order to find a comparison favorable to Richmond, the committee, it says, compares not the statistics of all banks in Richmond and Baltimore, but figures for national banks alone in Virginia and Maryland, ignoring all banking business done by the state banks and trust companies.

RESERVE BOARD DEFINES ACCEPTABLE WARRANTS

Washington, January 5.—The federal reserve board, today made public tentative regulations to govern purchase of municipal warrants issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes or receipts of assured revenues. The regulations are designed to permit the reserve banks to make some use of the reserve funds now on deposit with them by member banks.

Defining acceptable warrants, the board says that obligations payable from "local benefits" and "special assessments" taxes shall not be taken unless the municipality at large is directly or ultimately liable. Warrants must be those of municipalities in existence for ten years and municipalities which for a ten-year period previous to purchase has not defaulted, for more than fifteen days, in the payment of principal or interest of any funded debt. Warrants of a municipality with net funded indebtedness exceeding 10 per cent of the valuation of its taxable property will not be taken.

No reserve bank shall invest in warrants to exceed 10 per cent of the deposits of its member banks, except with the reserve board's approval; and other restrictions are placed upon the amounts to be invested. Special approval must be received to authorize purchase of warrants of municipalities of 10,000 population or less.

WOULD WORK CONVICTS ON THE HONOR SYSTEM

Nashville, Tenn., January 5.—Governor B. W. Hooper in a message to the legislature today said he was in favor of working convicts on the public roads, but "on the honor system, without chains, shackles or guns and giving them an extra deduction from their sentence as an incentive to discipline." He said he was not in favor of working only short term convicts on the roads because this classification would not harmonize with the honor system. He expressed the belief that the roads could be worked more cheaply by free labor than convict labor, but the use of convicts would mean the procurement of many miles of road that otherwise would not be built.

Named Conciliators.

Washington, January 5.—Secretary Wilson today named Daniel J. Keefe, former commissioner general of immigration, and Hywel Davies, a Kentucky coal operator, as federal conciliators to attempt to settle the eastern Ohio coal strike.

Artillery Race Up Mountain Wins Steinbach for French

Thann, Alsace, January 4.—(Via Paris, January 5, 11:35 a. m.)—A race of three miles up the steep slope at Engelburg through thickets and up rocky steps between a battalion of French light infantry with mountain guns and a German battery determined the stubborn fight for Steinbach.

The French surprised a movement of the German battery ascending the mountain by road, and taking a short cut, accomplished what seemed to be the impossible.

The French battalion arrived five minutes before the Germans appeared in an open space and had just time to put into position their mountain guns. Five minutes more all was over. Too late the Germans attempted to retire, and the battery was annihilated.

Possession of that point permitted the French to cross the River Thur, above Thann, and to reinforce troops around Steinbach.

On the morning of December 31 the French occupied all the heights around the town and sent a demand to the German commandant for surrender of the place. The German officer replied:

Refuses to Surrender.

"The German commander-in-chief considers that our forces are in no wise cut off. The route to Cernay (Sennheim) still is open and retreat always is possible. In any case the emperor's troops are ready to die, but to surrender, never!"

At noon that day the French attacked and their successes began with the capture, at the point of the bayonet, of a farm commanding the road entering the town. The French then progressed, road by road, until the village was reached.

Charges and counter charges of infantry were made amid the continual booming of the French 3-inch guns from all the heights, to which the Germans replied with ever-diminishing violence, which indicated shortage of ammunition. The Germans made a stubborn defense with machine guns and cold steel at the outskirts of Steinbach and the Chasseurs also were met with a murderous fire from the church steeple.

One French company asked permission to charge. Many soldiers fell before they reached the German line, but nothing could stop the others and the German forces guarding the road were annihilated. In possession of the road and farm the Chasseurs mounted quick-firing guns, and, sweeping along yard by yard, finally captured the first line of houses. The struggle was continued from house to house, the French losing one day the buildings captured on the preceding day, but always returning to the charge with greater violence and making a further advance. Every alley was an ambush and every house a little fortress.

German Powder Explodes.

The French succeeded in slipping around the enemy's right along the Steinbach Brock, then began a fierce combat for the possession of Steinbach.

The church and the cemetery twice were taken and lost. Since hand-to-hand fighting proceeded night and day from door to door, the Germans, unable longer to use their artillery, resorted to incendiary bombs and set fire to barns and houses occupied by the French.

A changing wind, however, obliged the Germans to quit the first line of trenches, being unable to control the fire, and the flames reached the ammunition reserves. The explosion when the ammunition caught fire shook the little town.

Still the Germans held on till the morning of January 4, when their last courageous resistance was worn out by the persistent and impetuous charges of the Chasseurs, and the whole town was occupied.

This point, the gateway to Cernay (Sennehim), which commands important routes to the south, north and east, is no longer tenable for the Germans.

U. S. IS NOT EXPECTED TO STOP WAR EXPORTS

dorsed by Representative Metz, of New York, who said he had just returned from Germany.

"The German government," he said, "knows that we have a perfect right to do what we are doing in the exportation of arms and munitions, and is satisfied that we continue to do. I talked to high government officials in Berlin on this question, and the German government is not in the least concerned over this exportation of arms."

Representative Lobeck, of Nebraska, declared that so long as England held up American cargoes of foodstuffs consigned to neutral countries, the United States should deprive Great Britain of the privilege of securing American products in trade.

Canada Denies Statement.

Ottawa, Ontario, January 5.—The Canadian state department denied today there was any truth in the intimation made by Representative Bartholdt that Cadanian troops had been shipped across American territory in Maine.

"Even in time of peace," said a representative of the department, "militiamen are not allowed to leave Canada and enter the United States in corps and with arms without permission first having been obtained from Washington. In time of war such permission would not be applied for, and if it were Canada would expect a refusal.

"There is no need for Canada to send troops across the state of Maine, as the intercolonial railway, which extends from Montreal to St. Jones, Halifax and Sydney, is entirely on Canadian territory, and, in fact, was routed back of the frontier for military reasons."

A similar denial was given out by the militia department, officials of which said they thought the story arose from the fact that two or three officers, on their way from Nova Scotia to attend instruction schools, traveled by way of the Canadian Pacific short line, passing through a part of Maine. The officers, it was said, wore uniforms, but were not on war service.

WIDOW WINS CASE IN U. S. SUPREME COURT

Washington, January 5.—Widows and minor children of deceased bankrupts are entitled to a year's support, or allowance, if that is authorized by state statutes, as is almost universally the case.

The supreme court so decided today in the case of Mrs. M. J. Dicks, of Richmond county, Georgia, whose husband died after he had been adjudicated a bankrupt.

BRIGHT TIMES AHEAD, ACCORDING TO M'CORD

Makes Optimistic Speech at Luncheon by Rotary Club.

That there will be no more panics, and that, no matter how serious future financial stresses might grow, the regional bank system is prepared to supply money to tide over any condition, was the statement of Joseph A. McCord, governor of the southeastern reserve bank at the regular meeting of the Rotary club in the Winecoff yesterday noon.

Furthermore, he added:

"I can't see anything but prosperity ahead. Nineteen hundred and fifteen is the dawn of a new and bright business era. Business men in this, as well as all other territories, have learned invaluable lessons, principally the practice of economy and the adjustment of expenses to revenue.

"The regional banks are going to take care of the commercial and industrial enterprises of their territories. We're going to have better times than ever. Business men have found their bearings and know where they stand.

"The reserve bank system is going at its duties systematically. True, we could let loose a flow of money right now that would empty our vaults and enrich the people on a loan basis, but this is not the plan. Instead of making the country wealthy for a day, after which it would be burdened with the immense financial obligation, the regional banks are holding much of their money in reserve, so, in event stress of times befall us, it will be on hand to remedy matters."

The Rotary luncheon was largely attended.

GOV. GOETHALS REPORTS CANAL SLIDES SERIOUS

Believes Fortifications Built and Authorized Will Prove Satisfactory.

Washington, January 5.—Governor Goethals, of the Panama canal zone, told a house appropriations subcommittee today that the slides in the big waterway had proved much more extensive than was at first thought. At the point where they occurred, he said, there is a channel 100 feet wide and 35 feet deep, but shoaling has complicated the situation. He did not discuss the probable effect on plans for sending the Atlantic fleet through the canal in March, but said the zone government was working the dredges twenty hours a day to clear the channel. At first it was thought 1,000,000 cubic yards of earth would have to be removed, but 1,500,000 already have been taken out and a great quantity remains.

With several war department bureau chiefs Governor Goethals went over, behind closed doors, plans for public works and fortifications in the zone to cost $18,000,000. He said that so far as military information indicated, the fortifications now built and authorized were satisfactory. Brigadier General Crozier, of the ordnance bureau, expressed the same view.

Governor Goethals said the fortifications were ample, generally speaking.

"Could foreign warships outrange the guns of the canal fortifications?" he was asked.

"No," he replied. "Our guns are of equal range, so far as our information goes."

"Would the government be justified in installing larger guns?"

"No, I would not say so," replied the governor.

Secretary Daniels, nevertheless, said today he was planning for the dispatch of the Atlantic fleet to San Francisco by way of the canal. He said he had not been advised that the canal might not be passable.

Artist von Werner Dead.

Berlin, January 5.—(Via The Hague and London.)—The death of Anton von Werner, the artist, is announced here. Herr von Werner was born in 1843. He achieved fame by his very large allegorical canvases representing the most important episodes in the foundation of the German empire.

URGES NATIONAL LAW TO STOP CHILD LABOR

Washington, January 5.—Delegates attending the eleventh annual conference here on child labor were urged tonight by Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, to reverse their policy of pleading with the captains of industry and invoke a rigid application of law to keep little children out of workshops.

"It is no use to argue with the manufacturer who employs children," the senator said. "It is time to bring down the strong hand of the law. Let us flood congress with letters and telegrams so that congress may know that this—national legislation prohibiting the employment of children under age—is what the people want. Congress generally yields to public demand."

Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, discussed the constitutionality of child labor laws in a brief address. He advocated quick passage of the Palmer-Owen bill as the most effective means of eliminating the child from the factory.

Allied Fleet Bombarded.

London, January 6.—(12.20 a. m.)—A wireless from Berlin gives an Athens report that the Dardanelles fortresses are bombarding the blockading Anglo-French fleets and that one torepdo boat has been slightly damaged.

HOTELS OF ATLANTA BENEFIT BY THE WAR

Jack F. Letton Tells of Increased Business That May Be Expected.

That the hotels of America, and through them the cities in which they are located, will benefit from the European war was the declaration of J. F. Letton, lessee and manager of the Winecoff hotel, and newly elected president of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, in his maiden official speech before the association at its annual banquet at the Georgian Terrace hotel last night.

In part Mr. Letton said:

"At last the hotel men are beginning to realize that they are to reap benefits from this terrible war. For just as long as the war lasts no Americans not forced to do so are going to Europe. Millions of dollars which formerly went abroad must perforce stay on this side of the Atlantic. The Panama-Pacific exposition will be the Mecca of thousands upon thousands of Americans, and the big surplus who will go there instead of taking their annual European trip will more than compensate for the comparatively few Europeans who would have visited the exposition had peace reigned supreme.

"The daily press of the county has been sounding the slogan, 'See America first.' The railroads are advertising freely the beauties of the various sections of the United States, and we should see that Atlanta comes in for her share of such advertising. Americans are forced to accept their own country as their vacation playground, because the European playgrounds are closed.

"When the wanderlust strikes the inhabitants of this country they must wander at home and the millions of dollars which every year went abroad must be handed over to American hotels, railroads and steamships. Therefore the hotels of the United States with these unquestionable facts before them are entitled to feel that the increasing darkness of each month of 1914 has been only that temporary darkness which precedes the dawn of every day we live through."

The banquet last night was a very happy occasion, just as the banquets of this organization during the last eight years have been.

The reputation for service and good food that Atlanta hotel proprietors deal out to their guests is countrywide. Add to this reputation the self-interest that a hotel proprietor must have in entertaining himself and you may be able to conceive of the enjoyable qualities of last evening's pleasure. Besides the offerings which Mr. Grant, manager of the Georgian Terrace, had to offer as host, Fred Houser was "all there" with his little song book, and cabaret features were furnished by Frank D. Sweet and Edson Brown, professional entertainers.

R. S. Wessels was toastmaster of the occasion. Besides Mr. Letton the speakers were Councilman D. Knight, Lee Jordan, attorney; Colonel Frederic J. Paxon, president of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association; A. S. Adams, president of the Atlanta Rotary club; St. Elmo Massengale, president of the Ad Men's club; Ivan E. Allen, president of the Atlanta Convention bureau; County Commissioner W. Tom Winn. Ed Brown told his "Hawaii" tale, and several addresses were delivered by Jim Williams.

BURGLARS KEEP BUSY THROUGHOUT THE CITY

Their New Year's Resolution Must Have Been to Steal All They Could.

The burglars and robbers of Atlanta have, like all of us, duly made their New Year resolutions!

Unlike the general moral tone, designated commonly by the vulgar term of "swearing off," found in resolutions, the Atlanta thieves have resolved to steal more than they have ever stolen heretofore, and in testimony thereof they have begun the New Year by carrying out their resolutions with great credit to themselves, unmindful of the discredit to the custodians of the law.

Eight burglaries and numerous robberies were reported to the police Tuesday morning, when citizens awoke to discover the depredations of thieves in their residences.

Dr. M. A. Davis, a well-known dentist, reported that thieves had robbed his residence, 285 North Moreland avenue, of about $500 worth of goods.

The burglar evidently had a taste for ladies' wearing apparel, or perhaps he had a lady friend. He pilfered Mrs. Davis' handsome set of furs, her silver toilet set, vanity box, a number of silk skirts and petticoats, number of silk waists and 6 yards of white satin with silk pin stripes and four yards of blue satin. Masculine apparel was ignored.

A bronze statue of Venice and a handsome stairway clock were taken.

"The house was ransacked from top to bottom," said Mrs. Davis. "It looked like moving-day."

This is the second burglary of the Davis home in thirty days.

Mrs. John E. DeMars, of 43 Battle Hill avenue, West End, reported that thieves had broken into her residence and stolen a 32-caliber, blue-steel revolver and two gold rings, set with pearls.

The residence of B. V. Bevil, 55 Joe Johnson avenue, near the DeMars residence, was also burglarized, it is believed by the same gang of housemen who entered the DeMars residence. About $100 worth of articles were stolen, including a gold watch, a Winchester rifle, a pistol and a camera. This is the second burglary of the Bevil home lately, it having been burglarized last Friday night.

Boarder Turns Burglar.

The cleverest theft of all was executed by a young man giving his name as Graves, who spent the night as a new boarder in the residence of C. S. Owens, 327 Whitehall street. He engaged a room there Monday night, telling the landlord that he was from Birmingham, Ala., and was going to work for the Seaboard Air Line railroad.

Graves awoke earlier than the other boarders Tuesday morning and rifled the room of Mr. Owens, stealing his gold watch. He also entered the room of C. A. Hall, a boarder, and stole $15 out of Mr. Hall's trousers and a diamond ring, valued at $100, from his dresser.

Nonchalantly, as though nothing had happened, Graves then presented himself to the servants in the dining room, informing them that they might serve his breakfast, as he had to get work early. He left the house in plenty of time to escape the detectives who later took up his trail.

Stole Lot of Groceries.

The Almand Grocery store, at 273 Peters street, reported that burglars had broken into the store during the night and stolen a large quantity of groceries, tobacco and cigars. Two 25-pound sacks of sugar, six boxes of choice chewing tobacco, two cheeses weighing 22 pounds each, four hams and $10 worth of cigars were hauled away by the gang of thieves, who evidently used a wagon.

Robert F. Maddox reported that auto thieves robbed his car of a United States tire, clincher smooth-tread, serial No. 4827-Z.

Dr. J. H. Kelly, of 57 McLendon street, reported that auto thieves had stolen a Prest-o-Lite copper tank from his car, which was parked on Broad street, in front of the Empire building.

J. C. Cower, of 401 Highland avenue, offered evidence that the proverbial chicken thief was "making his rounds" Monday night. He reported that his chicken coop had been pinched by the fowl thieves, who stole eleven fine Rhode Island Reds, one black hen and one White Leghorn.

R. Rogers, 326 Piedmont avenue, reported that robbers had broken into his home during the night and stolen a leaf breast pin, set with a large diamond; a breast pin, set with pearls; a silver mesh bag and six linen handkerchiefs.

The residence of Homer Smith, 191 Mell street, was also burglarized and a gray raincoat, an overcoat and two suits of men's clothes stolen. Dave Rice, of 13 Central avenue, reported that his place had been broken into and a blue frame bicycle stolen.

The report of Harbor Master T. H. Laird shows 288 clearances last year compared with 302 the previous year.

YOUNG DOCTOR TRIES TO COMMIT SUICIDE

When a well-dressed young man regained consciousness last night at the Grady hospital from the effects of strychnine poison, which he had swallowed a few hours before, with suicidal intent, at the Terminal station, he tried in four languages—French, German, Italian and English—to explain to the house physician, Dr. Herman, that it was loneliness that had led him to try to kill himself.

Poem after poem the near-victim of poison recited, in languages unknown to Dr. Herman.

"I didn't have a relative or a friend, and I was all alone," explained the patient in English.

Recites Poetry.

He then repeated, in a slow voice, measuring his syllables and words as though he spoke with great pain, those dreary lines of Kipling:

"The days are sick and cold,
And the skies are gray and old,
And the twice-breathed airs blow damp;
And I'd sell my tired soul
For the bucking beam-sea roll
Of a black Bilbao tramp."

Dr. Herman says that he then spoke a word of encouragement to the patient, when again the patient began another verse, this time, in what Dr. Herman believes to have been Italian.

"I did not understand his lines," said Dr. Herman, "but when he finished I attempted to discover his identity by questions."

He informed the doctor that he was 32 years of age, and that his name was Dr. E. C. Duvall; that he had studied medicine in Berlin and London, and had taken a post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins, and that for three months he had delivered lectures at the Toronto Medical college.

But despite all the questions, he would not tell Dr. Herman what place was his home.

He had been found in the Terminal station waiting room by Train Starter Pope. Pope said that the young man's body was convulsed with pain, and that he told him he had tried to kill himself by swallowing sixty tablets of strychnine. Duvall had beside him, when found, a suit case full of clean shirts and other linen wear, and a physician's medical kit, which was full of all kinds of drugs. In his pocket was a bottle of strychnine tablets and 30 cents in change.

Several letters, papers and memoranda were also found in his pockets, but he had carefully scratched his name off each one. At first he gave his name as E. C. Dalton.

Patients Owed Him.

In the medical kit a ledger was found, and on an inside leaf of this was written the name, "Dr. E. C. Duvall, 1907," which was the year, he later told the physicians, that he graduated from a prominent northern medical school.

The ledger showed that Duvall's patients owed him $1,144, and that one patient had paid him $15. Only the names of the patients were given, no mention being made in the ledger of the town in which he had practiced.

Duvall later informed Dr. Herman that he did not practice in the state of Georgia. Neither one of the names given by Duvall could be found in the American Medical Directory.

His case is a puzzle to the physicians. He wishes to die, but is glad to be living, and, when told to be quiet, as strychnine patients are, he obeys the physicians, telling them that he knows that a strychnine patient ought to be quiet—that he has treated them himself.

"Why did you take strychnine?" queried Dr. Herman.

"Well, I didn't want to take morphine, because people would have said I was a dope fiend."

"Were you involved financially?" asked the physician.

"I had bought an automobile, and had been unable to pay for it, because my patients would not pay me."

Duvall was not out of danger at an early hour this morning, though he has a chance for recovery.

After a number of enjoyable talks were given, Grand Chancellor Stanley installed the following officers: W. B. Estes, chancellor commander; J. Ed Walker, vice chancellor; J. L. Moore, prelate; R. W. Andrews, master-at-arms; V. E. Kea, inner guard; C. E. Nixon, outer guard; W. G. Moore, master of finance; B. L. Owens, keeper of records and seal; M. P. Harrison, master of exchequer, and Ed L. Humphries, master of work.

The following were elected grand representatives to the grand lodge meeting to be held in Savannah in May: Dr. W. R. Cross, Lawton Nally, B. L. Owens and C. L. Jones.

MACON YOUTH STABBED TO DEATH BY NEGRO

Macon, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—William F. Barnhart, a 20-year-old collector for the circlation department of The Macon Telegraph, was stabbed to death by "Buddie" Faulk, a 15-year-old negro boy, in East Macon this afternoon, when the latter resented being paddled by Barnhart and several other white boys. The negro plunged his knife through Barnhart's heart and the latter's death came almost instantly. The negro then turned and ran, while two white men and several other boys made no effort to stop him.

Young Barnhart was the son of W. H. Barnhart, a former Macon policeman, now house detective for a Macon hotel. He had been with The Telegraph two years, and was always considered a peaceful and orderly young man. The sheriff has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest of the negro, who is expected to make his way to Jones or Twiggs county.

FARM IMPLEMENTS SENT FROM GEORGIA TO WEST

Tifton, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) What is believed to be the first shipment of farm implements from Georgia to a western state went forward yesterday from Tifton to Illinois. The shipment was composed of 3,000 sections of Eclipse harrows, manufactured at the plant of the Tifton Farm Tool Manufacturing company, at Tifton, and were for distribution at various points in Illinois. This is putting one over on the westerners, as farm implements are usually shipped the other way—from Illinois to Georgia.

BROKE INTO THE SAFE AND TOOK CONTENTS

Columbus, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Cracksmen broke into the safe of the Gulf Refining company at some hour last night and secured $100 in money and a number of valuable papers. A small hole was drilled through the safe door near the combination, and the lock was then picked. When employees went to the office this morning they found the safe door open and papers scattered all over the floor.

Election at Woodstock.

Woodstock, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The election for officers resulted as follows: Mayor, J. B. Medford; councilmen, J. M. Latham, J. M. Paden, W. L. Dupree, Wiley R. Dobbs and H. J. Dean.

THREATS OF LYNCHING MADE OFFICERS BUSY

Three Rome Negroes Suspected of Murder Hurried to Atlanta for Safety.

Rome, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Threats of lynching and the gathering of crowds of people about the county jail this afternoon caused Floyd county officers to take three negro prisoners to the Atlanta Tower for safekeeping. The men are Henry Newman, George Bowen and Louis Jacobs, suspects held in connection with the supposed murder of Benjamin Franklin, a young clerk, who disappeared midnight Saturday night, and whose body was found in the Oostanaula river this afternoon. Franklin's head was crushed, as if by a blow from some heavy instrument. Newman, the first negro arrested, told several conflicting stories, but finally implicated Bowen, whom he said struck the fatal blow, knocking Franklin into the river. Officers believe that robbery was the motive.

Angry crowds began to congregate after Franklin's body had been found, and to avoid trouble Sheriff Barron, accompanied by three officers, put the suspects in an automobile and hurried them to a point a few miles out of town, where they boarded a Western and Atlantic train for Atlanta.

Immediately after departure of officers' car, several other automobiles, each loaded with armed men, muttering threats and apparently intent upon lynching, whizzed out of town in pursuit. Then, fearing a conflict, the sheriff sent reinforcements to his officers, but the ruse of the deputies in boarding the train threw the pursuers off the track, and they continued their journey to Atlanta, chasing an automobile that had returned by another road to Rome.

Franklin was 25 years of age, a native of Russia, prosperous and well regarded. His funeral took place tonight. Franklin's mother, aged 80, was crazed by grief, and when she viewed her son's body, refused to believe him dead, pressing kisses on his lifeless brow and calling upon him to arise.

Sheriff F. R. Barrow, of Rome, arrived in Atlanta last night with the three Rome negroes suspected of the killing of Ben Franklin.

Bowen and Jacobs denied any knowledge of the crime, but Newman, admitting that he was present, but did not commit the murder, said that Bowen struck Franklin the fatal blow over his head which knocked him into the river.

BANKS OF GRIFFIN DECLARE DIVIDENDS

Griffin, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The Savings Bank of Griffin has just declared its annual dividend. The dividend declared was a 10 per cent one, and shows the prosperous condition of the bank. This bank, like all of the banks of this city, has had a most profitable year.

The directors of the City National bank declared, at their recent meeting, a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent. This is one of the strongest as well as one of the oldest banks of the state. It was organized in the year 1872. R. H. Drake, president of the bank, and the other officers will doubtless be re-elected by the stockholders at the next meeting, which will be held on January 12.

FIRST DIXIE LIMITED REACHES WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Today the first southbound Dixie Limited of the 1915 season reached Waycross from Chicago. It is one of the finest tourist trains operated in the south, and is composed of all-steel equipment, electrically lighted. Among the passengers were a number of prominent railroad officials of the several roads operating the train. Atlantic Coast Line officials joined the train here for the trip into Florida. The determination of the railroads to maintain the train this season is taken as another indication that business conditions in the United States are gradually resuming the normal.

FLOYD COMMISSIONERS WANT TO NAME THE MAN

Rome, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—A lively conflict is on between the State College of Agriculture and the Floyd county commissioners in regard to the position of farm demonstrator for Floyd county. The position has heretofore been filled by R. W. Partee, a graduate of the state college and a resident of Floyd county. On the first of the year he was notified that he would be transferred and that J. H. Foster would succeed him. The Floyd county commissioners help to pay the salary of the farm demonstrator and think they should have a voice in naming the man. They have notified Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the state college, that unless they have some say in the choice of the man they would probably discontinue their subscription to the work.

APPEAL BOND OF $300 SENT TO WASHINGTON

Frank's Case Is Now Definitely Before the United States Supreme Court.

The Frank case is now securely in the United States supreme court, the last move of the defense in this direction having been taken yesterday when appeal bond of $300 was forwarded to Washington by Frank's counsel.

On receipt of this bond, the supreme court will write the case upon the docket. The next move will be from the prosecution in the effort to have it advanced so that an early hearing may be obtained.

This will be done, it is said, within the next week or so, when either Solicitor Dorsey or Attorney General Warren A. Grice will journey to Washington to appeal to the United States supreme court.

DISPUTE OVER RENT CAUSE OF SHOOTING

Calhoun, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Bob Bennett, who lives near this place, was shot and fatally injured by Lafayette and Homer Watkins yesterday. Bennett had gone to the house of Homer Watkins to get a load of rent corn and was ordered off the place by Watkins, when a dispute arose between the parties as to the amount of the rent. Lafayette Watkins, a younger brother of Homer, opened fire on Bennett with a Winchester rifle, shooting Bennett through the arm. It is said that Bennett returned the fire with a single barrel shotgun, when Homen Watkins snatched the rifle from the hands of his brother and shot Bennett, the ball passing through the right arm and lodging in the right lung. It is not thought that Bennett can live. Both the Watkins boys have been placed in jail.

Go Into Office Today.

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) The new administration for the city of Athens goes into office tomorrow at noon, Mayor W. F. Dorsey holding over for another year. The council is composed of Messrs. J. Z. Hoke, H. P. Hinton, V. T. Mathews, A. G. Dudley, John F. Tibbetts, Hugh H. Gordon, H. R. Palmer and R. T. Wright.

Short Courses at Athens Drawing Many Students; Nearly All Prize Winners

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—The short courses at the State College of Agriculture began today. Nearly 200 corn club boys and canning girls, from about half that many counties of the state have arrived, and are domiciled for two weeks of intensive brain cultivation. They are nearly all winners of prizes in county contests and are the pick of the country boys and girls, alert and up-to-date, in the state. About forty grown men, young farmers, with several young women, are registered for special courses—poultry, gardening, cotton grading, being some special courses popular this year.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts Before Breakfast If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonfull in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

REGARDING OAKLAND.

The Constitution does not believe Mayor Woodward could have been fully cognizant of the effect, when in his annual message he recommended a slashing reduction of the force and of the salaries of the staff at Oakland cemetery. If these recommendations are adopted the result in all probability will be that Oakland will revert from its present beautifully-kept and orderly condition to the disgraceful jungle that existed before the cemetery commission was created in 1907.

Prior to 1907, Oakland, the one municipal cemetery—a tract of ground providing the last resting place for more than 100,000 Atlantans—was badly neglected by the city. Encroachments upon private lots was a matter of common occurrence. The cemetery itself was a football in politics, instead of being, as it should be, set aside as a place beautiful, with memories and associations reaching into nearly every home in the city.

In 1907 the cemetery commission was created, to take the cemetery out of politics and provide its rehabilitation. The task has been accomplished in a manner beyond criticism and without a breath of scandal or a hint of graft. The entire cemetery has been platted, bodies removed from lots where they did not belong, and in 1913 alone over one thousand monuments and markers were reset. The larger part of this work has been accomplished as a result of the energy of the present general manager, whose salary it is proposed to cut one-third or to replace with a caretaker at $60 a month.

On the financial side here is the showing made since the commission took charge in 1907, the first column being for labor, the second for administration and the third the totals:

1908	....$7,086.00	$3,070.00	$10,156.00
1909	.... 8,481.65	3,000.00	11,481.65
1910	.... 8,300.00	3,300.00	11,600.00
1911	.... 8,774.92	3,600.00	12,374.92
1912	.... 8,568.61	1,800.00	10,368.61
1913	.... 8,765.25	1,800.00	10,565.25
1914	.... 8,651.05	1,800.00	10,451.05

The cost of administration alone has come down from the highest point, in 1911 of $3,600, to $1,800 at present, the general manager really doing the work of two men.

That is not all. Since the creation of the commission the city has appropriated for the maintenance of the cemetery $111,007. In that time $20,974.18 has been returned to the city by the general manager, being receipts from lot owners. Thus the city has spent, net, on the cemetery since 1907 only $84,874.94, while lot owners have spent for improvements the enormous sum of $118,270.26. In seen years the lot owners have spent $35,000 more than the city in beautifying the cemetery. What encouragement is there for them to continue to do so, if the city itself is to go on record as being willing to see this historic landmark revert to a jungle?

The Constitution is unwilling to believe that the mayor or council will, when they fully understand the facts, sanction or pursue a policy that practices vandalism at the expense of the sentiments most creditable to human nature.

A DEBT OF HONOR.

With the regrading and repaving of West Hunter street completed practically two years ago, the city's pledged contribution to that improvement remains unpaid. In the meantime the enhancement of property values, consequent upon the improvement, more than cancel the city's estimated share. Such is the situation outlined in a card, published today, from Alfred Truitt, a property owner, and it is a distinct reflection upon the city of Atlanta.

The improvement of West Hunter was undertaken upon virtually the same plan governing the improvement of Ivy, Forsyth and other streets. At that time, in 1912, the city could not find the ready money to meet its share of the expense involved in regrading and repaving this important western artery of traffic. The property-owners offered to undertake the entire work themselves, with the explicit understanding that in the early future the city would reimburse them for its share of the expense.

The project is now completed, values have gone soaring because of it, but the city has not redeemed the promise made at that time. The omission is indefensible. The city of Atlanta is under moral obligation to the property-owners. The entire city, no less than the property-owners themselves, has had the benefit of the improved thoroughfare.

An unfortunate feature is that some of the work was financed by people living outside the city. It is embarrassing to explain to these individuals why Atlanta has not kept its word. The new finance committee and council should not make it necessary to keep up these explanations. The obligation is undenied. It is a debt of honor. It should be met without further delay.

A SPLENDID SHOWING.

The achievement of the retiring chairman of the finance committee of council, W. G. Humphrey, illustrates the high importance of having in that position a business man and financier of the best obtainable caliber.

The finance committee passes upon all estimates of the various departments, pruning and paring when necessary, and protecting the interests of the whole city. The main brunt of the burden falls upon the chairman, and it involves study and work, wrestling with importunate councilmen and department heads and defending the budget upon the floor of council. To this task is, of course, added the general financing of the city, as relating to the care of its outstanding bonded indebtedness, the whole effort being concentrated at keeping expenditure inside of income and preserving the credit and good name of the municipality.

In these respects Mr. Humphrey has eclipsed the best traditions of a difficult office. His previous training in council in 1911-12, as chairman of the police committee and vice chairman of the finance committee, gave him valuable experience. The duties of these years, under the administration of Mayor Winn, Mr. Humphrey met with signal ability. But his work in 1913 and 1914 as chairman of the finance committee records an achievement unprecedented in the annals of the city.

In these two years the city has paid off its indebtedness, amounting to $751,491.65. This was done out of current income and in addition to meeting the regular fixed charges of city administration.

At the end of his term Mr. Humphrey leaves to the credit of Atlanta in city banks $653,082.82, to meet all obligations that are due, and with a surplus of quick cash assets over liabilities of about $200,000—this covering everything excepting the city's bonded indebtedness, which is more than doubly offset by its waterworks plant.

That the city has been able to take care of expanding maintenance, to take up bonded and other indebtedness for improvements essentially permanent, keep intact the charter fund, carry over a substantial cash balance and, in addition, show a surplus approximating $200,000—and all out of current income—is a marvel in financiering.

Chairman Humphrey has, of course, had the co-operation of city officials generally. But it is simple justice that he should be credited for his share in what is really a wonderful accomplishment. He went into office with the theory that its duties should be discharged as those of any other business office or corporation. The result vindicates his theory and tells its own story.

FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE.

The Herald-Journal, of Greensboro, Ga., one of the most influential of the weekly newspapers in the state, with its latest issue celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. For half a century it has served ably the people of Greensboro and Greene county, and, in a larger sense, by setting a high standard in weekly journalism, the people of all Georgia. Nine years ago it came under the control of its present editor, J. C. Williams, and in his regime he has made a record of which any Georgia editor might well be proud.

The Herald-Journal was one of the weeklies The Constitution had in mind recently, in paying tribute to the worth of the state press in the work of development of the territory immediately contiguous as well as that of the state-at-large.

Editor Williams is and has been a constant force for civic inspiration and industrial and agricultural activity. Under his management The Herald-Journal has maintained its splendid ideals as a purveyor of local news. First and last, he is a "booster" of Greene county and Greensboro. He is an exponent of clean policies and clean politics. He typifies ideally the country editor whose usefulness is of the practical sort.

The Constitution extends congratulations to The Herald-Journal, and to Editor Williams, with best wishes for their continued prosperity and many years of service to Greensboro, Greene county, and the state.

Save your speech. Time will tell just how good the resolution is.

Same old road, my brethren, same you've trod before,—
The bright hope of the future—the goodbye at the door;
And even with paths dividing, with merry wave of hand:

Same old world, my brethren—its love and and joy, and light,
The toiling in the sunshine for the rest-dream of the night;
With brave heart for captain, life's legions yet will stand

The Holland Letter

When Judge Gary a day or two ago caused announcement to be made that there would be no cut, at present at least, in the wages paid to the skilled artisans and other employees of the United States Steel corporation, many persons inferred that this decision was reached because Judge Gary and his associates thought they detected signs of improvement in the steel industry. The comment usually made was that the Steel corporation policy indicated that the corporation's new business in the last month of the past year was considerably larger than the new business obtained in November.

Furthermore, the decision of the interstate commerce commission to permit an increase in the rates charged for freight by the eastern railroads would, it was thought, early make it possible for the railroads to increase their orders for steel rails and other products into which steel enters, thereby providing a good deal of new business. There is, however, good reason for inferring that the slightly better outlook for activity in the various plants of this corporation was not the sole reason for the decision not to cut wages at present. There were other highly important, because far-reaching, considerations which very likely caused the management of the corporation to form the opinion that it was not advisable to cut wages at present.

The Steel corporation, after 1903, began to secure a considerable portion of the foreign markets. It was in part for the purpose of gaining an entrance to these markets that the Steel corporation was organized. A profounder business philosophy than the general public had any knowledge of was really the inspiring motive for the organization of the Steel corporation.

Pointed the Way.

In the late '90s, the Federal Steel company of Illinois began to point the way by which the steel industry of the United States could ultimately gain supremacy. There were Marshall Field, H. H. Porter of Chicago, H. H. Rogers of New York, Norman B. Ream, then of Chicago, and others, including Judge Gary, who by careful and patient and yet persistent study reached what they thought was the sound commercial proposition for the steel industry. It was, in fact, Mr. Porter who said to his associates that as a commercial proposition that was economically sound it was essential that an entirely different method be adopted in place of the one which characterized the steel industry earlier.

For instance, the Federal Steel company as it earlier was operated manufactured a few articles, among them steel rails, but if the company sent its representatives into other markets where there was no demand for steel rails or only an occasional demand they could not profitably be employed. The thing to do was to find out what the commercial opportunities were and then to secure the organizations which would make it possible to seize these opportunities. It was not advisable to undertake manufacturing of all kinds, for instance, not advisable to manufacture pins or corsets, but it was advisable to make the kind of steel wire which could be utilized in the manufacture of pins and the kind of steel ribs of which 6,000 tons are yearly used in the manufacture of corsets. Therefore, if a representative of the company could go to pin manufacturers, to the corset manufacturers or to the makers of any kind of commodities into which steel enters and offer the right kind of steel then, even though the steel rail market were dull, there were other things that he could sell.

The Question of Co-ordination.

Having established this principle, the next step was to secure the right kind of organization. There were various corporations, some of which manufactured one kind of steel wire and some another kind still more powerful. Each of these corporations, if it were successful as many of them were, possessed excellent organizations. The Federal Steel company did not possess organization of that kind. Therefore its policy was to be to secure these various organizations, co-ordinate them and in that manner be in possession of facilities for supplying world markets with all kinds of commodities.

This was the germ of the idea upon which the United States Steel corporation was based. All of those who were associated in the organization of the greater corporation have constantly affirmed and the policy of the organization tends to confirm that statement that there was never any thought of securing monopolistic control of the steel industry. Foreign markets were looked for, and in order to obtain them and maintain them it was necessary that there be coordination of many of these industries, and that there should be large enough capital to enable the Steel corporation to perfect upon a broad scale world-encompassing foreign sales organization.

The question of maintaining or of cutting wages at this time involved the consideration of something more than prospective increase in business traceable to the effect of our sales to Europe on account of European war. But for the war the question might at this time have involved facing an emergency created by trade conditions due to the effect of the tariff. The corporation realizes that ultimately if there be any depressing effect of the new low tariff it must reach the wage earners. The indications were, before the war began, that there might be for some time depression of the steel industry occasioned by heavy importations which the low tariff made possible. Suddenly that situation was changed because commerce with Germany was for the time being ended and because England's foreign commerce was considerably impaired. There is no doubt that the steel industry will be somewhat stimulated by reason of the large foreign trade the United States has. But whether that stimulus will last after the war is ended and whether the permanent effect of the new tariff law will be such as to make it impossible not only for the Steel corporation, but for other corporations engaged in the steel industry, to maintain high wages is something that can be determined only after a test. The steel managers recognize that for the corporations now to cut wages would be to take a radical step. If at any time in the future it should be found that the steel industry of the United States, not only that controlled by the United States Steel corporation, but by the independent corporations, is materially affected by the low tariff, then the time will come when there must be decision whether in order to reduce the cost of manufacture so as to meet foreign competition it will not be inevitable that wages be reduced. That time is distant and a thorough test of the new tariff law may demonstrate that we can maintain high wages and successfully compete in our own markets and in world markets with the iron and steel manufacture of these nations.

THE PROPHET.

The weather man says "Snow," and then all people know it will be fine, the sun will shine, and warm up things below. The weather man says "Fair," and people everywhere their slickers don, put gumboots on, and for a rain prepare. The prophet does his best; he seldom takes a rest; all day he scraps with charts and maps from north and south and west. He toils and never tires; he reads expensive wires from Hudson's bay and far Cathay, and from the British shires. And still his guess is punk; his prophecies are bunk; one time in eight he gets it straight, and seven times it's junk. His system's not O. K.; it leads him all astray; 'twere best, perhaps, to burn his maps, and throw his charts away. He ought to study well the groundhog of the dell, which knoweth more of weather lore than human sharps can tell. A goosebone he should get, e'en though he goes in debt; for that will show if we'll have snow, or weather dry or wet. Let him observe the wrens, the wise old cackling hens, the toads and frogs, the barnyard hogs, the bullsnakes in their dens. And then when he foretells the storm that whoops and yells, the storm will come and freeze us numb, and he'll be wearing bells.

City's Payment For Improving West Hunter Overdue Two Years

Editor Constitution: We want to enlist your paper in putting before the new committee the importance of taking up the matter of payment for regrading and repaving West Hunter street, which was done in 1912, which amount has never been paid back to parties who furnished this money to do the work.

We believe that if the people of this good city will read and discuss this, sentiment will force some action. We have some friends who live out of the city who furnished some of the funds to improve West Hunter street, and they can't understand why the money has not been paid back before this, nor can we tell why. It is rather embarrassing to try to explain this to out-of-town friends.

We understood at the time the money was turned over to the city it would have been paid back possibly in one year, but this is the third year, and no money and no interest, though we have done our best to collect the money.

I have been informed that the increase in taxation on West Hunter street property will more than pay the amount advanced to do the improvement.

Miss Dooly's Discussion Of Fashionable Schools Is Heartily Commended

Editor Constitution: Many readers of The Constitution were doubtless interested in Miss Isma Dooly's article on the passing of certain fashionable boarding schools because of the financial crisis. Fashionable education is as false as fashionable religion, and the separation of religion and education should never be considered, especially in the training of girls.

May we not hope that the financial stress will adjust some other failings in our educational system? The sudden and arbitrary changes made necessary by the adoption of a uniform and very high standard of college work have already made the cost of higher education almost prohibitive to those of limited means.

The president of Chicago university declared several years ago that two years of this long training could be profitably eliminated. The president of Harvard university recently made protest against the exactions and unwise restrictions in entrance requirements, and insisted that genius would hereafter be excluded from certain professions.

What a fine suggestion is yours that, despite the value of schools and school experience, father, mother and home are, after all, factors in the best development of young life!

Let us hope, for the sake of coming America, that we shall be able to adjust our school questions to simple American life and needs, so as not to bring upon ourselves the curse of an aristocracy of vulgar wealth or, what is equally dangerous, if not more so, an aristocracy of learning.

EGYPT.
BY GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

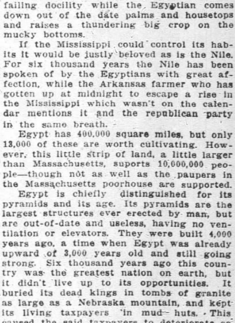
If there was no Nile river there would be no Egypt. At least the country would not be distinguishable from the rest of the Sahara desert, which consists of 1,000,000 parts sand, one part of fleas and a trace of water.

The Nile arises in the dark thorax of Africa and wanders north 4,000 miles into the Mediterranean. Its habits are much like those of the Mississippi river but much more regular. Each June, the Nile rises and overflows the land on either side. It then subsides and behaves itself with unfailing docility while the Egyptian comes down out of the date palms and housetops and raises a thundering big crop on the mucky bottoms.



LONG LONG WAY TO TIPPERAREE-EE
Gallup

One million parts of sand, one part of fleas and a trace of water.

If the Mississippi could control its habits it would be justly beloved as is the Nile. For six thousand years the Nile has been spoken of by the Egyptians with great affection, while the Arkansas farmer who has gotten up at midnight to escape a rise in the Mississippi which wasn't on the calendar mentions it and the republican party in the same breath.

Egypt has 400,000 square miles, but only 13,000 of these are worth cultivating. However, this little strip of land, a little larger than Massachusetts, suports 10,000,000 people—though not as well as the paupers in the Massachusetts poorhouse are supported.

Egypt is chiefly distinguished for its pyramids and its age. Its pyramids are the largest structures ever erected by man, but are out-of-date and useless, having no ventilation or elevators. They were built 4,000 years ago, a time when Egypt was already upward of 3,000 years old and still going strong. Six thousand years ago this country was the greatest nation on earth, but it didn't live up to its opportunities. It buried its dead kings in tombs of granite as large as a Nebraska mountain, and kept its living taxpayers in mud huts. This caused the said taxpayers to deteriorate so rapidly that for the last 2,000 years they haven't amounted to much. England has run the country of late and the most interesting things in it are the neatly preserved remains of its old families who died off before Rome got into swaddling clothes.

A great many nations flourished and grew great in the old days, but their kings always made the mistake of thinking that they were the only inhabitants who needed any support, and the population in consequence died off, very inconsiderately, and left said kings in an awkward and ridiculous position. Nothing is more embarrassing than to be a great king without any population among the royal assets.

SWALLOWS SOUND THE CALL OF THE COUNTRY.

(From The Chicago Post.)

St. Thomas Aquinas said: "Where the birds are, there are the angels." St. Thomas, it is true, said it in Latin, and the rendering given is a bit free, but it expresses what the good man meant. The saint is credited with being a home lover, and there isn't much doubt that he had the swallows in mind when he spoke of birds and angels in the same breath.

Many of us who have reached middle life lived boyhood days in the country. A surplus of sentiment is not necessary to make one connect angels with the old home where the trees were, the river ran and the swallows nested. The country-bred boy knows the swallows better than he knows other birds. Since barns were built the swallows have colonized them and have given something of cheer and companionship to every hour of the farmer's days.

The sight of a forked-tail swallow "hawking," as Bradford Torrey puts it, through the city's streets in spring makes the city man homesick as does the sight of no other bird. The swallow is a countryman. No student of sociology ever will be called upon to suggest means to turn back a cityward flight of the swallows. It might not be a waste of energy, however, to devise a method to turn a few of the swallows to the city, for a glimpse of them, with the engendered yearning for the old home and things bucolic, might solve the deserted farm problem.

BIRD SHARES CONVICT'S CELL.

(From The Philadelphia North American.)

"Jimmie, the Sparrow," a new prisoner, arrived at the eastern penitentiary yesterday. He occupies the cell with Caligerio Strazzeri, who began a ten years' sentence for the killing of Diego Randazzo in Berks county.

"Jimmie" is a real sparrow. This little bird flew into the cell in the Berks county jail, where Strazzeri was kept a prisoner for six months after his arrest for the killing. He came and went for several days, and then took up his permanent residence there. Yesterday when Strazzeri was transferred to the penitentiary here, he brought Jimmie along, hoping against hope that the warden would let him keep the bird. Kindhearted Warden McKenty said: "Of course, you can keep him," in his bluff, hearty way.

When Strazzeri took his first shower bath in his new prison yesterday the little bird sat upon a desk, then flew to the top of the open door of the shower, watching. When the bath was over he perched on the convict's shoulder, looked up in his face and then pecked at Strazzeri's nose. Jimmie is said to know many tricks, all taught him by his friend, the murderer.

HOT DAY AND DEWY EVE IN INDIA.

A dusty road running across the great plateau of the Deccan; scanty crops of maize and cotton; here and there low hills, their reddish soil sparsely clothed with trees; to the north a receding line of mountains—elsewhere infinite space and blazing light. . . . Now and again the oxen are unyoked at a dribble of water, and a party rests and eats in the shade. Otherwise it is one long march with bare feet over the burning soil.

As day closes we reach Fardapur. A cluster of mud-walled compounds and beehive huts lies about a fortified inclosure, where the children sprawl and scream and a Brahmin intones to silent auditors. . . . Gradually over the low hills and the stretches of yellow grass the afterglow spreads a transfiguring light. Out of a rosy flush the evening star begins to shine; the crickets cry; a fresh breeze blows; and another pitiless day drops into oblivion.

A QUICK INHERITANCE.

Benjamin Moore, the second bishop of New York, was a man noted in his day for his ready wit—a quality that his wife apparently shared with him, says The Youth's Companion.

A dinner was given by some one of Governor Morris' friends when he was about to depart for Europe. Bishop Moore and his wife were of the party. In the course of the conversation Mr. Morris observed that since he was going abroad he had made his will and turning to Bishop Moore said to him:

"My reverend friend, I have bequeathed to you my complete stock of impudence."

Bishop Moore replied, "Sir, you are not only very kind, but you are very generous; you have left me by far the biggest portion of your estate."

Mrs. Moore immediately added, "My dear, you have come into possession of your inheritance remarkably soon."

ELECTRIC FANS ASSIST FIREMEN.

(From The Indianapolis News.)

In Boston, not long ago, a fire broke out in the basement of a building occupied by a wholesale paint and chemical concern. The fumes and smoke became so thick that it was impossible for the firemen to enter the basement. A half dozen of the ordinary 16-inch size electric fans were quickly requisitioned by the fire chief and their breeze directed down the stairway. As soon as the rear basement windows were broken to allow the escape of smoke and fumes, the effect of the fans gradually cleared the basement, so that the firemen could work easily.

FEWEST BATTLES IN DECEMBER.

(From The Westminster Gazette.)

December is the least belligerent month in the calendar. A correspondent who has analyzed the dates of over 1,000 battles of the world, from Marathon to Mons, finds that fewer than fifty of them were fought in December, and these few were among the least important and decisive. Scarcely one of them would be known to the proverbial schoolboy. On the other hand, July, as is only fitting, seeing that it is named after a soldier, is the most belligerent, with 132 great battles to its credit or otherwise, and is closely followed by August with 122.

AN OLD BARBAROUS PUNISHMENT.

(From The London Chronicle.)

Until a change of law in 1870, parliament recognized the sentence of drawing (i. e., dragging on a hurdle to the place of execution), hanging and quartering (i. e., dividing the body into four and placing it at the disposal of the crowd) for the crime of high treason. J. F. X. O'Brien was sentenced to be hanged, drawn and quartered for taking part in the Fenian conspiracy of 1867, but the sentence was remitted to a term of penal servitude, and he survived until 1905. He was the last person on whom any judge pronounced this barbarous sentence.

GENERAL GRANT'S ATTIRE.

(From The Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.)

It was at the closing exercises of one of the public schools in Boston that Marjorie was reading a composition of her own on "Grant's Work in the Civil War." She got on most creditably until she reached Lee's surrender at Appomatox courthouse. She then related how Lee wore his sword and was handsomely attired in full uniform, "while Grant," she announced, "had on nothing but an old, ragged union suit."

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE.

It is possibly true that President Wilson's policy of "watchful waiting" in Mexico has been resultless. A different policy would have easily resulted in a highly interesting war.

ORGANIZATION PLANNED BY GA. MANUFACTURERS

Temporary Headquarters Are Opened in Atlanta—To Call State Meeting.

The temporary organization of a Georgia state manufacturers' association has opened headquarters in room 616 Peters building, with William M. Horne, as secretary, in charge. A meeting to perfect the organization will be called at an early date.

This temporary organization is the outcome of repeated conferences held in Atlanta, Macon and elsewhere in Georgia between representatives of various industries. These meetings disclosed a very positive conviction that the advantages of a manufacturers' association to the manufacturing interests of the state would be apparent to every manufacturer giving consideration to its purposes, and that collaterally it would afford an obvious benefaction to the state at large.

This organization, so far, is temporary, and, it is stated, has not been formed with a view to any personal aggrandizement or credit. Its permanent organization is to be perfected upon the voice and approval of its members, so organized. For the purpose of perfecting the organization those taking the initiative are inviting the correspondence and co-operation of all the manufacturers in Georgia.

Purposes of Organization.

The purposes of the temporary organization are:

To organize and maintain a state manufacturers' association.

To foster and encourage manufacture within the state of raw materials produced by and of the state.

To encourage a home market for state manufactures, and assist in promoting a further trade for surplus productions with other foreign and domestic markets.

To minimize trade abuses and effect wholesome commercial relationships.

To secure, without regard to political affiliations or proclivities, the enactment of just and equitable laws, safeguarding the interests of manufacturers, and to oppose any legislative measure that may be deemed inimical to the best interests of the state.

To protest against unfair freight rates and classifications and secure equitable adjustments in the same, with a view to extending the markets for Georgia manufactured goods.

To disseminate to all its members industrial information affecting the various branches of trade in which individual members are interested, generally advancing the interests of the manufacturer and incidentally promoting the welfare of the state.

To extend personal acquaintances, promote confidences and be of mutual benefit.

Statement by Horne.

Mr. Horne, in discussing plans for the organization, said:

"There has been a long-felt need for a manufacturers' association in Georgia, conducted along the general lines of other associations at present organized in some sixteen other states, which have proven of much benefit to manufacturing interests. Suggestions have frequently been made and meetings held with a view to enlisting the co-operation of manufacturers throughout the state in a movement looking to the perfection of such an association. While much enthusiasm was shown at the various meetings held and discussions that have been made, it remained for some to take the initiative, and project an active campaign to arouse universal enthusiasm, stressing the importance of concentrated effort in the promotion of the state's manufacturing interests.

"To this end a number of prominent manufacturers from various industrial centers throughout the state have come together and formed a temporary association, employing my services to act in their behalf and impartially on behalf of every manufacturer in Georgia. In my capacity as secretary to this temporary association, I stand as the servant of every interest in whose cause a permanent association is proposed to be organized, inviting any inquiry any may wish to make and asking the co-operation of all."

"Practice, Not Theory," Says Attorney General In First Law Lecture

Attorney General Warren Grice, in delivering the first lecture of his professorship in the Atlanta Law school Tuesday afternoon, admonished the students composing his class to study the practical side of the law problems presented to them, rather than the theoretical side. He outlined the lectures on "The Law of Real Property" which he will deliver during the coming term, and said that he would stress the practical side of every subject discussed and go into his own experiences and the experiences of his fellow lawyers in present-day litigation rather than dwell on the theories of outgrown law books.

"Too many law schools teach nothing but theory and hypothetical principles of law, instead of preparing the students for the practical, every-day problems that will confront them in practice," said the attorney general. "But that is not my idea, and I am, therefore, going to give theory second place and the practical side first place in this course."

Mr. Grice succeeds the late Charles B. Reynolds in the chair of real property in the law school, and will, during the coming term, lecture at the school every Tuesday afternoon.

HALL WILL PAY VISIT TO CITY OF NEW ORLEANS

Dr. J. J. Hall, secretary of the Georgia Peace society, has been appointed a member of the committee representing the American peace centenary committee, to attend the celebration in the city of New Orleans of the battle of New Orleans, and the century of peace following that event.

Another member of the representative committee is Captain E. V. White, of Norfolk, Va., survivor of the famous confederate iron-clad Merrimac.

The celebration, to be held under the auspices of the Louisiana Historical society, under an act of the general assembly of the state, includes an elaborate program throughout January 8, 9 and 10. While the original program, which included a joint celebration between England and the United States, since it was these two countries which have been at peace since the memorable battle of January 8, 1815, has been interrupted by the war in Europe, the society has, nevertheless, decided to carry out a somewhat modified program, to which Great Britain cannot now be a party, in the elaborate manner originally intended.

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) The University of Georgia, the State College of Agriculture, the State Normal school, Lucy Cobb institute, the city public schools and several other education institutions in Athens begin their spring terms this week, yesterday, today and tomorrow being opening days. More than 5,000 students in all the institutions are enrolled.

The Georgia Military academy, after a holiday season of two weeks, began the work of the spring term today. All of the old students were back in their places, and quite a number of new students have been added to the cadet corps. The work in every department is exceedingly bright. The basketball team is getting well under way, short-range target work will prevail for a while in the military department, and the usual midwinter social activities will be held. The cadet corps is composed of three full companies and a band.

BEN LEE CREW HEADS THE PARK COMMISSION

Cochran Nominates All Old Heads of Departments to Their Former Places.

If there is to be any more turmoil and strife among the members of Atlanta's park commission, such evidences did not loom up at the organization meeting of the board Tuesday afternoon, when Ben Lee Crew, of the eighth ward, was elected to the presidency to succeed W. P. Anderson, who retired and who declined to stand for re-election.

Commissioner Crew was elevated to the presidency without opposition. He was one of ex-Manager Dan Carey's staunchest friends in his campaign against J. O. Cochran, but that fact did not swerve friends of Cochran. Commissioner C. G. Hannah placed Commissioner Crew's name in nomination. Commissioner Hannah supported Cochran in the race for the general managership of the department.

BEN LEW CREW.
Elected president of the board of park commissioners.

Through With Politics.

"There is going to be peace and harmony hereafter," said President Crew, "and I want to assure the members of the board and the public that I am going to support General Manager Cochran to the utmost of my ability, and I want every other member of the board to work in a manner which will reflect credit upon the park department and the administration. We are through with politics now. It is incumbent upon the board to get down to work and make the year peaceful and prosperous."

Mayor James G. Woodward presided over the meeting of the board while the elections were in order, and he showed plainly that he was pleased with the election of Commissioner Crew to the presidency.

To the minor places in the park department, General Manager Cochran lived up to his promise by naming all the old employees, and the members of the board gave him a free hand in making the nominations. There was no opposition offered to any of the general manager's appointments, which were as follows:

Nelson Crist, superintendent at Grant park; Dave Gillespie, superintendent at Piedmont park; E. T. Boyd, zoo keeper; F. O. Ritter, florist; W. C. Lewis, forester; J. C. Flemister, lecturer, and D. W. Dyer, custodian of the cyclorama.

Miss Helena Douglas was appointed bookkeeper in the office of the general manager.

Manager Cochran announced after the meeting of the board that he has planned a tour of inspection of the various parks during the next few days, and said that a number of big improvements at both Grant and Piedmont parks will be inaugurated just as soon as the finance committee makes up the apportionment sheet for the new year.

Only a few routine matters were disposed of at the meeting.

Attorney Aldine Chambers, representing Jules Billet, the lessee of Lakewood park, appeared before the board and stated that as the result of the published statements to the effect that there was no tenant at Lakewood, certain persons created a racket at the park. Attorney Chambers requested the board to take some action in the direction of recognizing Billet as being in proper authority, representing the city. He further explained to the board that he did not seek to have the board take any action which would change the present status of the contract between his client and the city, nor did he want the board to do anything which would prove an obstacle when the time arrived for the city to take over the property and begin developing the park for the purposes of establishing a fair grounds.

Contract Recognized.

The board took the position of recognizing the contract between the city and Billet, and informed Mr. Chambers that it regarded Billet as tenant under the contract.

This action of the park board does not conflict with previous actions, but merely puts Billet in the position where he or his representatives can assert authority and enforce order.

Improvements for the new year were discussed by Councilman George Freeman, of the third ward, who, by reason of his place as chairman of the park committee of council, has a place on the park commission, and who is anxious for work to be started at Grant park. Councilman Freeman urged the board to make some provision in the budget to erect a building for the cyclorama.

Other improvements suggested were the erection of an entrance at Augusta avenue, placing new roads and walks through the park and planting more shrubbery. The board went on record as being opposed to cutting down any more trees in the park.

J. J. WOODSIDE QUITS REAL ESTATE FIELD

John J. Woodside, pioneer in the real estate and renting business in Atlanta, has retired from the firm of Woodside, Sharpe, Boylston & Day. Mr. Woodside has been in the business since 1880 and owned one of the largest and most systematic renting agencies in the south, and until last year handled the business alone. May 15, 1914, his business was consolidated with that of Sharpe, Boylston & Day.

Mr. Woodside has been in bad health for the past few months, and for this reason severed his connection with the real estate and renting business on December 31, 1914. He is still president of the John J. Woodside Storage company, Inc., and on his return from Florida will give his entire time to this businesss.

Sans a Five-Cent Piece, Detectives Had to Walk; Burglars Make Escape

Unless the city of Atlanta will allow the city detectives and plain clothes policemen an expense account, so they will be stocked with nickels and dimes to pay their car fare in answering burglar calls, the citizens are confronted by a serious condition, according to Mrs. J. T. Bartram, of 228 Richardson street.

Mrs. Bartram returned to her home at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon to find it ransacked by burglars, who, she discovered, had broken open a rear window. She called the police at once.

"At 7:30 o'clock," said Mrs. Bartram, "Detectives Rosser and Pate arrived at my house. I told them that the burglar had had plenty of time to be in New York and asked why they had not come at first.

"One of the detectives replied that the street car company had stopped letting them ride on passes, and that they didn't have a nickel and were forced to walk.

"I told them the next time I called them to my house to jump on the car and tell the conductor I would meet them at this stop and pay their fare, if they happened not to have a nickel."

Chief Beavers was told of the incident, and of the late arrival of the detectives, Tuesday, and remarked:

"Yes, I know the question of transportation of detectives and plain clothes men must be solved at once. I do not know of a single street car company in other cities where detectives are not ridden free. The patrol wagons cannot carry the detectives to all their calls, and there are not now enough motorcycles in good order for the call officers."

THREE BANK VACANCIES TO BE FILLED TUESDAY

Successors to McCord and William D. Owens Will Be Elected by Directors.

The annual meetings next Tuesday of the Atlanta Clearing House association are expected to result in interesting contests for vacancies in three of the city's big banks.

The office of vice president of the Third National, succeeding Joseph A. McCord, now governor of the Reserve bank, will doubtless be filled, and also the place of cashier of the Central Bank and Trust corporation, made vacant by the death of William D. Owens, also, the directors of the Lowry National may re-establish the position of co-vice president, according to rumor.

The re-election of the principal officers of the banks is expected, which includes Frank Hawkins of the Third National, Asa G. Candler of the Central bank, W. L. Peel of the American National, J. W. English of the Fourth National, Colonel R. J. Lowry of the Lowry National, Dr. W. J. Blalock of the Fulton National and C. E. Currier of the Atlanta National.

Other interesting features will be brought out at the meetings, at which the stockholders will be present. Reports are to be made a week later at the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Clearing House association, which, it is said, will tend to show that Atlanta banks are in excellent condition.

Currency Comptroller John Skelton Williams has served notice on the banks to make reports of their condition and these will be forwarded at once.

GOOD WORK IN ATHENS DURING THE PAST YEAR

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) In the report of the city engineer to the council for 1914 the constructive record of Athens, for the "time o' war," has been one to encourage business. More than $300,000 in building permits were granted during the year. A new church is included in the list, two remodeled hotels and many medium-sized residences. About $37,000 has been spent on the streets during the year, most of it permanent paving. About 20,000 feet of sewers were laid, property owners paying for the work and agreeing to sell to the city at cost only when the rentals amount to 6 per cent of the investment.

NEAR BEER DEALERS WARNED BY COMMITTEE

Athens, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Every near beer dealer in Athens has received a "warning note" from the "committee of 100." They have been waging a short campaign against the licensing of the places, but lost out because council decided it could not legally refuse to grant what the state authorizes. They then met and organized to take other steps—probable prosecutions for alleged violations of prohibition law.

DOCKET IS BEING RAPIDLY CLEARED BY SUPREME COURT

The supreme court is rapidly disposing of its docket for the October term, which is now in progress. There are about 175 cases on this docket. About thirty-five of the cases from the Atlanta circuit, however, were disposed of on Tuesday, and the court will soon reach the cases from the other parts of the state.

One-third of the world's supply of plantinum is required in dentistry and another third for electrical purposes.

NATHAN STRAUS MAY BUY GEORGIA ESTATE

Noted Financier Is at Georgian Terrace en Route to Florida.

Nathan Straus, former Georgian and noted philanthropist, has returned to his native state, determined to live the remainder of his declining years in a state that he pronounces the healthiest, sunniest in the union.

He is stopping at the Georgian Terrace en route to Florida on a flight to escape the rigors of New York's winter. He has fallen in love with Atlanta and it is expected that he will settle upon a country estate near this city, in which he will establish a pure milk station.

A hobby of his is pure milk. His campaign for pure milk, established in 1890, has done more for the health of New York babies than any other movement.

Nathan Straus is one of three brothers who were born in Talbotton, Ga. Isidor Straus, the noted financier, sank with the Titanic. Oscar Straus, the youngest, was ambassador to Turkey, emissary to The Hague conference and member of President Roosevelt's cabinet, as well as candidate for governor of New York in 1912.

Many Visitors to Auditorium.

About 350,000 people visited the Atlanta Auditorium in 1914, according to the annual report of the Auditorium committee of the city council. The last installment on the purchase of the building was paid off last year. The committee stated in their report that the Auditorium was doing more to advertise Atlanta than any other agency.

T. H. BRANNEN IS NOW WITH JACOBS' DRUG CO.

He Will Be Located at the Main Store on Marietta Street.

T. H. Brannen is to re-enter the drug business, and will be connected with the Jacobs' Pharmacy company as assistant to Charles A. Smith, the general manager, and will be located at the main retail stores, at Nos. 6 and 8 Marietta street. Announcement of this important change will create an unusual stir in drug circles, and, as it has been freely predicted that a man who had made so pronounced a success in the drug business as has Tom Brannen could not long remain away from his "first love," many of his friends are saying, "I told you so."

This announcement will be greeted with supreme satisfaction by Mr. Brannen's former customers, for, with the unexcelled facilities that the Jacobs' Pharmacy Company possesses, and with Mr. Brannen's well-known ability to marshal the many details of modern business into service plus, those good people who value Jacobs' quality will find in the new arrangement a combination that one would travel a long way to beat, and the Jacobs' Pharmacy company and its general manager, Charles A. Smith, will find an able associate in Mr. Brannen in carrying out the policies that have made the House of Jacobs synonymous with success.

T. H. BRANNEN,
Who is now associated with Jacobs.

Mr. Brannen felt that he had given up the drug business for good when about two years ago he organized the Brannen Barbers' Supply company, which company will be continued under the same name and by its present organization.

Since Mr. Brannen disposed of the Brannen's drug stores in Atlanta to Jacobs he has been an interested spectator of the Atlanta drug field, and when he "felt the call" so strong he could not resist. It is natural that such a mammoth organization as Jacobs' Pharmacy company possesses offered him a field where he could make full use of his experience.

It is perhaps a curious coincidence that in joining Jacobs' forces Mr. Brannen goes back with a concern with whom he first entered the retail drug field in Atlanta, and it was under Dr. Joseph Jacobs that he received his training and experience in the retail drug business. Mr. Brannen will spend a large part of his time on the floor of the main store, at Nos. 6 and 8 Marietta street, where he will welcome the satisfied customers, who, after all, have built the Jacobs' Pharmacy company from an humble beginning to its present magnitude. Mr. Brannen will appreciate the business of former patrons and friends, and will give their requirements his personal attention, whether they visit the store or make use of the convenience of the telephone.

BOILER EXPLOSION; ONE LIFE IS LOST, TWO PERSONS HURT

Tifton, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)— Thomas Yaun was instantly killed, Ollie Peterson badly hurt and Lawton Dupree severely scalded when the boiler at J. W. Hall's shingle mill blew up about noon yesterday. The explosion is thought to have been caused by turning water into the boiler while it was superheated. Mr. Yaun was standing nearby the boiler when the explosion occurred, and was instantly killed, the top of his head being blown off and his brains scattered. Mr. Peterson received a severe wound in his shoulder and had one hand hurt.

All the injured are young men. Mr. Yaun was about 20 years old, and is survived by two brothers and sisters.

Waycross Councilmen.

Waycross, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) Three new members of city council were sworn in at tonight's meeting of council. They are: J. A. Lott, elected to succeed himself from the first ward; Charles L. Morgan, succeeding Fred Brewer in the third; Lloyd C. Warren, suceeding Allen S. Morton in the fifth.

Feds File Suit Against Organized Ball

SPORTS—EDITED BY DICK JEMISON

Federal League Files Suit to Abolish National Commission

Big Sensation Created in Baseball Circles When Federals File Suit—Herrmann Comments; Says "O. B. Is Ready."

Chicago, January 5.—The Federal league today fired its heaviest gun in the war on organized baseball, filing an anti-trust suit against the leading bodies operating under the national agreement, including the National league, the American league and the national commission. The suit, it is said, threatens the entire fabric of organized baseball, carrying not only the possibility that the intricate organization be declared illegal and that the interleague agreements be dissolved, but that the ten thousand ball players in major and minor leagues be declared free agents.

The bill of complaint was filed in the United States district court. Judge Kennesaw M. Landis set January 20 for a hearing. The bill asserts that the national agreement, under which organized baseball exists, was made for the purpose of so dominating players that their engagement by clubs outside the alleged combination would be difficult, if not impossible. Eleven prayers for relief are included, as follows:

What Suit Asks.

1. That the national agreement and the rules of the national commission be declared illegal, and the defendants enjoined from operating under them.
2. That the defendants be declared to constitute a combination, conspiracy and monopoly in contravention of the anti-trust statutes, and that they be enjoined from further doing business as a part of said monopoly.
3. That the defendants be declared to have conspired to injure or destroy the plaintiff's business and enjoined from continuing their conspiracy, particularly from saying the plaintiffs are financially irresponsible and from threatening with "blacklist" any players under Federal contract.
4. That all contracts with players heretofore made by the defendants under the national agreement be declared as to the plaintiffs "null" void and of no effect," and that the defendants to be enjoined from seeking to enforce such contracts against players later signed by the Federals.
5. That the defendants be ordered to dismiss the various actions now pending against players.
6. That they be restrained from seeking by injunctions, threats or promises to prevent other players from performing their several contracts.

Section 7 asks a preliminary injunction covering the various matters, while sections 8 and 9 ask damages and relief for injuries to the Federal league. Sections 10 and 11 ask that writs of injunction and subpoenas be issued.

Herrmann Says O. B. Is Ready.

Cincinnati, January 5.—Chairman Herrmann, of the national commission, commenting today on the Federal league's suit, said:

"An investigation or a suit of this character is something that has been invited by organized baseball, either through the courts or a committee representing congress, for some years past, and we have every reason to believe that when the same has been tried and finished there will be an absolutely clean book for the national game.

ORGANIZED BASEBALL WILL FIGHT SUIT.

New York, January 5.—Organized baseball will fight the suit begun by the Federal league in the United States court in Chicago, President Ban Johnson, of the American league, declared here tonight.

"This suit is an offshoot of the Gallagher congressional resolution a few years ago to investigate the 'baseball trust,' which was pigeoned," Johnson said.

"We said then we would welcome congressional investigation, and we feel the same about it now.

"Of course, we will fight the suit. Organized baseball is not a trust. Anybody can buy a team in organized baseball or anybody can operate an independent league. We have no desire to prevent anyone from entering the baseball business as long as they respect our contracts. I am afraid of only one thing, and that is that the Federal league will blow up before the suit can be heard."

Johnson alluded to the suit as "a new Federal league publicity campaign."

FIELD TRIALS CLUB.

Only Two Dogs Left in All-Age Stake.

Grand Junction, Tenn., January 5.— Only two dogs of the thirty entered remained tonight to run first series heats in the all-age stake of the United States Field Trials club, started here yesterday. The deciding series will be run today.

Announcement was made tonight that twenty-four dogs would start in the derby.

WALTER J. TRAVIS WINS MEDAL AT PINEHURST

Pinehurst, N. C., January 5.—Walter J. Travis, of the Garden City Club, Long Island, won the qualification gold medal in today's play in the twelfth annual midwinter golf tournament here. His card for the eighteen holes was 79. Eighty-two players participated.

Others of the sixteen entrants who qualified with low scores for the first division were Chisholm Beach, of Fox Hills, Staten island, with 80; Dr. C. H. Gardner, of Agawam, Providence, R. I., 82; Robert Hunter, of Weeburn, Stamford, Conn., and Parker W. Whittemore, of Brookline Country club, Massachusetts, 83; R. Adams Balfe, South Shore, Brooklyn, 85, and W. A. Barber, of Princeton, N. J.; W. E. Truesdell, of Fox Hills, and R. C. Shannon, II., of Oakhill, Rochester, N. Y., 88.

Four divisions will continue in match play rounds through Saturday.

BASKETBALL TEAMS READY FOR OPENING

New York, January 5.—Teams in the intercollegiate basketball league are ready for the opening of the league race Saturday. The games that will open the season will be between Cornell and Pennsylvania, and Columbia and Dartmouth.

Columbia and Cornell tied last year for the league championship. Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth are all said to have improved over last season, and in this event an even more exciting race than that of 1914 is looked for by the followers of the game. Thirty games are on the schedule. The series will end on March 12, when Columbia plays Princeton and Dartmouth meets Yale.

FRANKIE BURNS AND KLINE SUSPENDED

Columbus, Ohio, January 5.—The Columbus Boxing commission tonight suspended young Patsy Cline, of New York, and Frankie Burns, of New Orleans, featherweight boxers, for failure to live up to contracts. Other boxing commissions will be notified of the commission's action.

Ivy Wingo Signs With Cincinnati For Two Years

Herzog, Manager of Reds, and Wingo Have Been in Conference Here.

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 5.—According to a dispatch received from Atlanta, Ga., Manager Charles Herzog, of the Cincinnati baseball team, has signed Catcher Ivy Wingo to a two-year contract. The terms are not given. The catcher had been reported as having signed with the Federal league.

Wingo's contract, as signed today, is with the St. Louis National league team, with whom he played last season, but it is understood he will be transferred to Cincinnati in exchange for money and players. One of those players is Armando Marsans, who jumped to the Federal league last year, but who was prevented by court proceedings from playing. The St. Louis club will be given the right to negotiate with him.

John Kling, former Chicago and Cincinnati catcher, was here tonight, but did not see President Herrmann, and the deal for Wingo, it is believed, will mean that Kling will not sign with the Cincinnati team for the 1915 season as had been rumored.

WINGO AND HERZOG HELD CONFERENCE HERE.

Ivy Wingo and Buck Herzog have been in this city for a couple of days conferring, and the announcement of his signing to the Reds comes as no surprise, as it was anticipated that Wingo would agree to Herzog's terms.

Herzog reached Atlanta late Monday afternoon and was soon joined by Wingo. The pair, however, managed to keep their identity secret, and it was only late Tuesday that the information leaked out that the pair were in conference.

Wingo is a native of Norcross, Ga., and from his home announced several weeks ago that he was through with the Cardinals, and it was a known fact that several offers have been made him by agents of the Feds. Herzog's journey to Atlanta, therefore, served a twofold mission, both in getting a good catcher for his club and also foiling the efforts of the Feds.

HERMAN AND EGGERS WILL ARRIVE TODAY

Bantams Who Meet Here on January 12 Expected to Arrive Today.

"Red" Walsh, manager of Pete Herman, arrived in town Tuesday, and will help Promoter Mike Saul arrange the details and preliminaries for the coming fight with Eggers on January 12.

Eggers and his manager, Jacobs, are expected to arrive in town today, Mike Saul having announced that tickets were sent them the latter part of last week, and that he had a wire from Jacobs announcing they would be here by Thursday sure.

With Herman due today, and Eggers also, local followers will have an excellent opportunity of seeing two of the best bantams in the business work out, and should be able to get a comparative line on the showing they will make when in the ring.

Just what boys Promoter Saul will match for his prelims is not yet known, but it is a safe bet that Battling Kelly will be in the semi-windup, and right now the promoter is after a match between Kelly and Jimmy Pappas, or with Kelly and Battling Budd, another promising youngster of Kelly's class.

Tickets for the bout will go on sale today. The prices will be the same as for the Herman-Pappas bout, that is, ringside seats for 2 bucks, orchestra seats for 1 iron man, and admission to the balcony for four bits. Tickets can be purchased at the Rex, Chess' place or Tumlin Bros.

BAKER DEFEATS ED. PRATER IN FIRST BLOCK, 200-178

William Baker, the St. Louis kid, defeated Ed Prater, champion of Georgia, 200 to 178, in the first block of their 400-ball pool match. Baker got away to a good start and held the lead throughout the entire game, Prater only at one time showing his real form.

With the score standing 140 to 81, Prater seemed to come to life, and for a space of several racks played splendidly. His run of 23 balls during this spurt was the high run of the night, Baker's high run being 21. Both players were slightly nervous and somewhat off their game, but, despite this, some good and spectacular shots were pulled off.

Baker's demonstration after the match of trick and fancy shooting was the pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment.

The second block of the match will be played tonight in the large hall adjoining the Crystal, and Manager Hack Eibel hopes to have a large crowd on hand.

The admission fee is 25 cents, and for reserve seats 35.

Cubs to Play Athletics.

Chicago, January 5.—Contracts were closed today for a series of games between the Chicago Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans to be played in Florida during spring training.

Mrs. F. E. Robinson Hurt.

Mrs. F. E. Robinson, of 111 South Pryor street, was struck by a taxicab in front of the Terminal station last night and knocked down, receiving a number of bruises.

She was leaving the station with her husband, having been to the station to tell relatives goodby.

She was rushed to the Grady hospital, where her wounds were examined and found not to be serious.

Eastman High School.

Eastman, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) The Eastman high school has opened after a two weeks' holiday for Christmas. The school opened with the brightest prospects for the best term in its history. Out of a total enrollment of 325, 280 were enrolled this morning.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Calhoun, Ga., January 5.—(Special.) J. M. Ballew, who is one of the oldest and wealthiest residents of this place, suffered a paralytic stroke Sunday and up to this time has been in an unconscious state. His condition is considered as extremely serious and his chances of recovery very small.

CONNIE MACK BUYS NAPOLEON LAJOIE

Famous Nap Second Sacker to Replace Collins on Connie Mack's Team.

Cleveland, January 5.—(Special.)— Napoleon Lajoie, for thirteen years star second-sacker of the local American league club, was sold today to the Philadelphia team of the same league.

This announcement, which was made by the owners of the local club, marks the passing from Cleveland of one of the greatest players the club has ever had. For thirteen years the Napoleon of baseball has given his best services to the local club, and was for years one of the greatest second-sackers of the world. He was at one time manager of the Cleveland team, but for the past several years has been playing his old position of second base Several times in the past he has led the batters of both leagu[illegible]d has often received the hon[illegible]ing the best fielding second-sacker in the league.

Connie Mack will need the services of some good second-sacker, in view of the fact that Eddie Collins has been sold to the White Sox.

Lajoie in 1901 jumped from the Philadelphia Nationals to the newly-formed Philadelphia American league team, where he played until June, 1902. On June 4, 1902, he played his first game with Cleveland, where he was manager from 1905 to 1909. Connie Mack admitted today he expected to use Lajoie at second base.

LOBERT SIGNS FOR 3 YEARS WITH GIANTS

New York, January 5.—Hans Lobert today signed a three-year contract with the New York Nationals. Lobert, former Philadelphia third baseman, came to the Giants in a trade yesterday for Stock, Demaree, Adams and a cash consideration.

GEORGE BAUMGARDNER SIGNS WITH ST. LOUIS

Huntington, W. Va., January 5.— Robert E. Hedges, president of the St. Louis Americans, tonight signed George Baumgardner, a pitcher, to play for his team. Baumgardner, who pitched last season for St. Louis, is said to have had offers from several Federal league clubs.

AT THE THEATERS

"Polly of the Circus."

(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon and tonight will be the last two performances of that charming play, "Polly of the Circus," which is at the Atlanta. Miss Elsie St. Leon is playing the leading role again and she is giving a performance which is winning new friends and holding old. The play is an absolute delight and the members of the cast worthy of big patronage. Polly was never better received than the opening night. The matinee today is at special popular prices, with children at half price. Those who have never seen Polly will find it a delight in every respect.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

A great many of the qualified vaudeville fans declare this week's Forsyth program superior to any that has been offered in weeks and a great many more theatergoers do not hesitate in the declaration that the show is to be classed with the best of the season. At any rate there is certainly a lively interest in the week at the popular playhouse; there has been heavy buying for all of the remaining performances, particularly for matinees. Arthur Prince, the marvelous ventriloquist, who heads the bill, is one of the world's famous vaudeville stars. Billy Forgarty and Ethel Kirk in a comedy act that is as refreshing as could possibly be wished for, score one of the big hits of the season. There has never been a more popular duo at the Forsyth. The comedian is a favorite and his pretty partner is as attractive as any singing comedienne this season.

"Bought and Paid For."

(At the Atlanta.)

"Bought and Paid For" will be at the Atlanta for four performances Friday and Saturday, a matinee being given each day. The play was booked for one day, but a change in the plans of the house made it possible to play two days. It is one of the strongest ever written by George Broadhurst and has scenes which are thrilling to the extreme. The play deals with the dangers of self-indulgence and is a master work. The company to be seen here has been praised by critics in the southern cities. Popular special prices will prevail during the engagement, with matinees at 50 cents for the best seats. The sale or seats opened yesterday.

HATTERS' UNION LOSES CASE IN SUPREME COURT

$252,000 Damages for Danbury Company From Boycott Is Confirmed.

Washington, January 5.—The supreme court today affirmed the $252,000 judgment of the New York federal courts awarded D. E. Loewe & Co., Danbury, Conn., hatters, against some 186 members of the United Hatters' union, under the Sherman law, as damages resulting from a boycott.

During a strike at the Loewe hat factory in 1902 the United Hatters of North America were charged with having boycotted the Loewe hats. The manufacturer alleged that large losses resulted. To recover triple damages provided by law the hat company began suit in 1903 against some 186 members of the union residing nearby. Judgment for $252,130 was awarded to the company, and that was affirmed by the circuit court of appeals.

Justice Holmes today announced the court's unanimous decision. He held that most of the questions of law in the case had been decided several years ago by the court when a demurrer to the filing of the suit was decided by the lower court against the laboring men. He further held that the defendants, as members of the labor union, were liable under the Sherman anti-trust law for acts of the officials of the union.

The winners were accompanied by County Demonstrator Agent R. S. Hunter, of DeKalb county.

India's Cotton Yield.

Washington, January 5.—A yield of 4,900,000. 400 bales, or 5 per cent less than last year, is the Indian government's latest estimate of the Indian cotton crop for the 1914-15 season, reported in consuls' dispatches today. The cotton acreage is placed at 24,000,000 acres. The final report will be announced in February.

FIRM UNDERTONE IN STOCK MARKET

Scarcity of Offerings Made Market Strong — Several Issues Made Advances. Bonds Higher.

New York, January 5.—Two conflicting elements, covering of short contracts and European selling were the primary features of today's comparatively active and strong market. Further settlements by the bears soon disclosed a scarcity of stocks and the foreign offerings, chiefly of United States Steel, were hardly large enough to affect that issue nor any of the other leaders, most of which closed under their best prices, but with a firm undertone.

In addition to the active group, numerous specialties, including American Can common and preferred, American Cotton Oil, International Harvester, American Woolen and Pullman Car rose from 2 to 4 points. The movement was not all the one way, however, several high-priced, as well as low-priced shares, sinking to new minimum prices. Among these were Louisville and Nashville, Atlantic Coast Line, National Railways of Mexico first preferred, Western Maryland preferred and Rumely preferred. The fall in some of these stocks ranged from 6 to 15 points under previous quotations.

Destination of the $3,000,000 gold bars taken from the assay office yesterday remained a mystery. Rumor associated the operation with a possible transfer of the metal to Ottawa, for credit to the Bank of England, which, in turn, may ship its equivalent in coin from London to Paris. In any event, the engagement was not accepted as an index to prevailing conditions in foreign exchange, which distinctly favor imports, today's quotations being the lowest in over a year.

New financing by the St. Paul road again came under discussion, but no details concerning the reported bond issue were available. It was understood that several industrial companies also had almost completed negotiations for the sale of bonds or notes.

Business on the London exchange was dull, but reflected a degree of stability.

The Imperial Bank of Germany reported a gold increase of $4,250,000.

A broader inquiry was seen in the bond issue division with a higher level of prices. Total sales, par value, were $1,956,000. United States government bonds were stronger on call, registered is advancing ¼, and Panama coupon and registered 3s ½ per cent.

COTTON MADE RALLY IN THE LATE TRADING

In the Early Session There Was a Break, But Later Market Rallied and Closed a Few Points Up.

New York, January 5.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular during today's trading. Reactionary sentiment seemed to be more or less general during the earlier session, and there was rather a sharp break in prices, but the market rallied in the lated trading, making a new high ground for the movement and closing steady at a net advance of 3 to 8 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 5 points. There were evidently some overnight buying orders around the ring, attracted by the strength of yesterday's market, but Liverpool was a shade under expectations and the market here soon weakened, under general realizing and southern selling. Part of the latter was attributed to New Orleans houses, who were supposed to be selling here, and buying in the southern market at a premium of about 26 points on the local May contract, while it was also reported that parties in the eastern belt were selling hedges here against actual. This undoubtedly inspired some local selling for a reaction, while there was heavy selling by Wall street and western longs, under which the market gradually worked off to a net loss of some 9 to 12 points.

Offerings became much lighter and there was a renewal of investment buying in the late trading, which apparently found very little cotton for sale around the ring and sent prices 9 to 15 points higher, with many of the early sellers covering on the advance, which came very suddenly and at a time when there was much talk of a further reaction around the ring. Closing prices were a shade off from the best, under realizing.

It is reported that representatives of Russian spinners in the local market have purchased fully 50,000 bales of spot cotton for shipment within the next two months.

Spot cotton steady; middling uplands, 8.05; gulf, 8.30. Sales, 400.

Advance in New Orleans.

New Orleans, January 5.—While cotton stood at the decline during the greater part of today's session, because of realizing sales from the long side, and while it made no such display of firmness as was made yesterday, there was a period of strength in the last half hour of business and the close was at a net gain for the day of 4 to 5 points. Last prices were within a point or two of the best of the day.

The buying that came in toward the close was apparently the result of the advice sent out broadcast by many brokers to their customers to take advantage of recessions to put out fresh long lines. In the morning, and in the first part of the afternoon, buying orders came in slowly, but suddenly they showed a marked increase, to all appearances coming from outsiders, and the demand was more than the ring could meet.

The gossip of the day was mixed in tone. Many brokers said the market was overbought and due for a material reaction, but others considered that the spot demand was too good and the outlook for a large export movement too favorable to allow of anything but temporary and unimportant setbacks.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON THE COTTON MARKET

New York, January 5.—(Special.)—Again the market showed remarkable strength in face of more free selling from the south against cotton held for present prices. These offerings caused a sharp decline about noon, which was quickly recovered under an investment demand from the west, where the profits arising from the advance in wheat are being used to buy cotton. So far this demand has absorbed all of the selling from the south. Our spinning friends tell us that the yarn market does not follow the advance in cotton.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, January 5.—(Special.)—Hedge selling through New Orleans, combined with liquidation on the part of western interests, induced freer local offerings early today, resulting in prices giving way to the extent of 10 points below yesterday's closing figures. The buying of the past two days seemed to have satisfied the demand for the moment, as buying orders were for much smaller quantities during the morning hours. Notwithstanding the increased selling and slower demand, the market showed no underlying weakness. On the contrary, its latent strength became manifest in the afternoon when, upon the recurrence of fresh buying for outside account, the selling power was found to have exhausted itself earlier in the day and consequently prices advanced 24 points from the lowest before offerings appeared in any size. With a broadening of interest in the market fluctuations are to be expected, but the outstanding feature of the market continues to be the absence of pressure from southern sources, which leaves the market without an adequate supply of contracts when buying of any importance occurs.

Dry Goods.

New York, January 5.—Cotton goods markets were steady, but more quiet on staple lines today. Blankets continued active. Overcoatings were being bought for fall by some manufacturing clothiers. Silks were in better demand.

Sugar.

New York, January 5.—Centrifugal and molasses sugars were firmer in the late trading with sales of 43,000 bags of centrifugal at 4.04. Molasses sugar closed at 3.39. Raw sugar firm; molasses, 3.36@3.42; centrifugal, 4.01@4.07. Refined steady.

Wheat Was Wild and Recorded Highest Price for Many Years

Exporters Continue to Buy in Large Amounts--Cables Reporting Excited Markets Abroad Also Contributed to Advance—Corn and Oats Slightly Higher.

Chicago, January 5.—Prices for cash wheat today mounted to a level which it is said had not been equalled at this time of the year since the Franco-Prussian war in 1870. Domestic millers were chief buyers here. Exporters were said to have continued to buy large amounts at the seaboard. Meanwhile speculative values here swept higher and, although unsettled at the finish, were 1¾ to 2⅝@2¾ above last night. Corn closed unchanged to 1-16 higher; oats up ⅛@¼ to ⅝, and provisions dearer by 7½@10 to 55. Speculative wheat dealers right at the start cut loose boldly from dependence on the moves of exporters here. Direct cable advices from Liverpool admitted that the British market was excited and that offerings there were scarce. Lively profit-taking here by fortunate bulls threatened for awhile to offset the greater part of the fresh gains, but on a second swell the market rebounded higher than before and wound up within half a cent of the top. On the crest of the advance No. 2 red winter wheat sold at $1.36¼ a bushel. The May option went to $1.37⅝@1.37¾, a bulge of 10¼@10⅜ cents as compared with a week ago.

Corn made a strong start with wheat, ran into heavy profit-taking, then rallied as a result of the late wheat upturn.

Oats swayed with corn.

Outside interests bought provisions freely.

FLOUR FOLLOWED ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Chicago, January 5.—Cash wheat sold here today for $1.36¼ a bushel, the highest January price in more than forty years. In consequence, top grades of flour were advanced 55 cents a barrel and quoted at $7.15. The abnormal European demand for breadstuffs was held responsible for the rise.

Second quality flour that sold for $5.60 last week was quoted at $6.30 a barrel today. Flour that commanded today $7.15, sold in August for $5.30.

Waves of buying on 'change carried the chief speculative wheat option, May delivery, up to $1.37⅝@1.37¾, a leap of more than 10 cents in a week and 8 cents or more above last night. Many brokers declared the May option would go far beyond the $1.85 record established in 1898 at the time of the Leiter deal. Several predicted $2 wheat.

On the other hand, export buying came to at least a temporary halt today so far as Chicago was concerned, though not at the seaboard. It also was a fact that great numbers of speculative traders, including many so-called eleventh-hour bulls, were content to realize profits and get out of the market.

Duluth, Minn., January 5.—Durum wheat today sold here at $1.50 flat for May delivery.

Coffee.

New York, January 5.—Coffee futures continued quiet today, but prices were firmer, on bullish European statistics, which prompted estimates that the world's visible supply would show a loss of about 100,000 bags during December, comparing with an increase of 498,000 for the same month last year and the continued steadiness of the primary markets. Prices here opened at an advance of 5 to 8 points and the market closed at a net advance of 6 to 8 points. Sales, 8,500 bags.

Spot steady; Rio No. 7, 7½; Santos No. 4, 9⅞.

Both Brazilian markets were unchanged and there was no change in the Rio exchange rates. Brazilian ports receipts, 55,000; Jundiahy, 47,000.

Cables report a decrease of 442,000 bags in European stocks during December. Cost and freight offers were reported unchanged to 15 points lower.

ROUND BALE COMPANY PRESSED TO THE WALL

Large New York Corporation Files Petition in Bankruptcy—Cause of Trouble.

New York, January 5.—The American Round Bale Press company, a New York corporation, with $6,000,000 authorized capital, filed today a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, in which its liabilities were given as $934,000 and its assets as fifty-nine cotton gin plants in the south, and presses, values not estimated. Paul Jones, a New York lawyer, was appointed receiver.

The company is a reorganization, effected in 1907, of the American Cotton company, in which former Governor David R. Francis, of Missouri, the late Cornelius N. Bliss and James G. Cannon, a New York banker, were interested. They, as far back as 1901, were members of a protective committee for the company's stock.

With the Texas Cotton Products company, a subsidiary, cotton gin, compresses and real estate, located in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Georgia, Louisiana and Missouri, were taken over at the reorganization.

Included in the liabilities are $737,340 first mortgage bonds. Paul Jones, the receiver, was manager of the concern, which, it was said in cotton circles today, had not been active in recent years.

Attorneys for the receiver attributed the failure to the European war.

"The business of the company has been prostrated by paralysis in the cotton trade resulting from the European war," their statement read. "The round cotton bales have for the last two years had the exclusive market in Europe, where there has been active demand for them. It is understood that the attitude of the bondholders is wholly friendly."

Statement of Company.

"The money raised by the mortgage bonds was practically all required to meet the cost of acquisition of the property taken over at the organization, so that the working capital with which the business started was very small, and the company was unable to assume direct management of the stock, which was scattered all through the cotton states, but was obliged to lease its plants to other operators.

"As round bales were not listed on the New York cotton exchange, the company was obliged to establish its own markets.

"The increase in freight rates for round bales having destroyed the market for them over here, the ultimate market could be found only abroad. An attempt made before the interstate commerce commission to restore the lower rates on round bales at the time of the failure of the American cotton company was decided adversely. All these circumstances made the conduct of the business extremely difficult for the past seven years, but had a good market been obtained abroad the situation would have been greatly simplified."

WATERS WILL URGE NUMBER OF REFORMS

Honorary Convict Camp, Pay for Prisoners Are Among the Number.

When Chairman Tull C. Waters, of the board of county commissioners, retires from that office today at the annual reorganization he will urge many drastic reforms in the roadwork system of Fulton county, chiefly the appointment of but one head for the public works department, to be endowed with full power, so as to eliminate the interference of politics in the department's activities.

Another reform to be urged is the enactment of a law by legislature to reimburse county convicts upon their freedom from prison. This to be done as a means of supporting the families of prisoners, many of whom are left destitute or poorly provided for.

An honorary camp for convicts will also be urged by the retiring chairman, along with the greater concentration of convict forces for economical measures. A better system of accounting in the work of maintenance of public roads will also be asked.

The report of Chairman Waters, which is to be submitted to the commission at its meeting this morning at 10 o'clock in Judge Hill's courtroom, will show that the total value of street and road improvement accomplished by the county in Atlanta and out will reach $518,539. The total receipts of the county reached $1,457,313.

It will also be reported that the outstanding indebtedness on the new million-dollar courthouse is only $350,000, which is expected to be cleared by May 1, 1915.

When the commission meeting takes place this morning not only the term of Mr. Waters expires, but those of General Clifford L. Anderson and Shelby Smith. These vacancies will be filled when the board is reorganized by Oscar Mills, Dr. W. L. Gilbert and Jeff Hightower. The remaining commissioners of the old board, S. B. Turman and W. Tom Winn, will meet with the new board.

Shelby Smith is slated for the chairmanship of the new, and Commissioner Winn as vice chairman. The committees will not be appointed until this morning's meeting.

16 PRIZES AWARDED TO CORN CLUB BOYS

Seven Select Scholarships and Nine Get Fine Pigs.

The award of sixteen prizes, annually given by the Georgia Southern and Florida railway to the winners in the Boys' Club contests along their line, were announced Tuesday.

The agricultural agent, T. O. Plunkett, with headquarters at Atlanta, yesterday forwarded to T. W. Reed, treasurer, State College of Agriculture, Athens, a check for $175 to pay for short-term scholarships chosen by seven of the winners. The other nine boys have selected pure-bred gilt pigs for their prizes. These will be forwarded to them free of charge just as soon as Mr. Plunkett can learn what they want.

The boys were awarded these prizes for the largest yield of corn on one acre in their respective counties. This is the second year that the Georgia Southern and Florida railway has given prizes to the winning boys. This is done in conjunction with the work of the agriculture field agents of the industrial and agricultural department, which has been conducted for the last four years by the Southern railroad and associated companies.

The prize winners are as follows:

WONG FOOK CHUNG WINS CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

Hugh Howell Succeeds in Having Deportation Proceedings Quashed.

Attorney Hugh Howell, of the law firm of Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, won quite a victory in a novel case Tuesday, when deportation proceeding instituted against his client, a Chinaman, were quashed by United States Commissioner Colquitt Carter. This was also the first Chinaman to appear on such charges before Judge Carter during the many years he has held the office of commissioner.

United States Chinese Inspector Worden, of Mobile, apprehended Wong Fook Chung at Manchester, Ga., when no papers of admittance to the states could be found. Proceedings to ascertain his rights to reside in this country were immediately instituted. The Chinamen of Atlanta thereupon employed Hugh Howell to resist this action.

At the trial the case of the government was defeated on the ground that Chung was born of parents who were rightfully living in the United States. The prosecution was vigorously handled by United States District Attorney Hooper Alexander, and many witnesses were heard before the commissioner.

Mr. Wong showed, through the testimony of several Orientals, as enunciated by Thomas Artindale, a government interpreter, that he had been born in DuPont street, Chinatown, San Francisco. When 13 years old, Wong and his father, Loo Yem, came to Atlanta, while his mother and sister returned to China. After learning the trade of a laundryman at 146 West Mitchell street, the defendant worked as a clothes cleaner in various towns of the state until arrested a short time ago at Manchester.

C. C. Bowden, an Atlanta undertaker, and the Rev. A. C. Ward identified him as the putative son who attended the funeral of Loo Yem in this city seven years ago. Many affidavits of judges, preachers and newspaper men were submitted by the defense, which had been obtained in the various towns in which Wong had lived for the last several years.

The case created quite a stir of interest among the Oriental colony of Atlanta. At the trial, Judge Carter frequently held his rulings in abeyance till the peculiar customs of the Chinese bearing upon the points involved had been explained.

The War and Prophecy.

Rev. W. A. Cuddy, of Washington, D. C., a well-known evangelist, will speak at the First Congregational church, colored, corner Courtland avenue and Houston street, on "The War and Prophecy," tonight at 8 o'clock. Evangelist Fritz Walker, who accompanies him, will sing "The Holy City." The admission is free, and the general public is invited.

SYSTEMATIC EFFORT TO CUT COTTON CROP

Merchants and Farmers Taking Active Steps Looking to That End.

Merchants and bankers and supply men, together with many farmers of south Georgia, are actively attempting to avert the planting of the usual acreage of cotton during the year 1915. In a letter addressed to the commercial organizations of Georgia, the Chamber of Commerce of Bainbridge is requesting them to increase the market demand for food crops raised in the state. Resolutions, addressed to the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, are also inclosed, asking this organization to assist in the solution of the farmers' difficulties.

The letter and the resolutions follow:

To the Commercial Organizations of Georgia: As there is no more important question before the people of Georgia today than of finding markets for Georgia crops other than cotton, the Bainbridge Board of Trade is of the opinion that the Georgia Chamber of Commerce can assist to a solution and we are petitioning them to that effect in the following resolutions. May we not ask that your excellent organization take similar steps, if in your opinion it seems wise? We believe there is a way out if we can come together and find it, and no organization can so well do this as the state-wide one. May we count on your help? It will be appreciated.

Very truly,
W. A. WHEELER, President.
By J. J. FARRELL, Secretary.

To Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

Whereas, the cotton situation makes it imperative that the farmers of Georgia seek to diversify their crops; and,

Whereas, long-established customs indicate a lack of market for Georgia crops other than cotton; and,

Whereas, it is to the interest of all citizens, especially those in commercial life, to assist the farmer to a state of prosperity by finding adequate markets for farm produce: therefore be it

Resolved, That this organization, the Bainbridge Board of Trade, call upon the central commercial organization in the state, the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, to endeavor to bring about some system whereby this market may be supplied, either by calling a conference between representatives of business men and commercial organizations or by some agreement between wholesalers and farmers whereby the latter will know what crops to grow and how to prepare them for market and the former will receive such products on a parity with those of other markets now furnishing the great bulk of the food and feed supplies consumed in Georgia and the south.

TO TOUR THE STATE FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Tiny Flags to Be Sold All Over the State for the Fund.

Dr. F. E. May, executive secretary of the Belgian relief commitee for Georgia, will leave Atlanta within the next few days to tour the state in behalf of the Belgian Relief day, January 16, when all over Georgia society women and girls will sell tiny Belgian flags on the streets, the funds to be applied to the relief of the Belgian sufferers.

Donations to the fund are coming into the headquarters into the Grand building slowly, but steadily, declared Dr. May yesterday.

"We are anxious that Georgia shall not fall behind her sister states in this work of humanity," he declared. "And we wish to urge upon the people of Atlanta that any donation, either of money, canned goods, clothes or provisions of any sort may be utilized, and is most urgently needed."

According to the headquarters of the relief committee, Georgia so far has fallen short of what neighboring states have contributed. The problem of keeping the Belgian women and children from starving through the winter is an enormous one, and, although France, England, Italy and other countries beside the United States are contributing, reports from Belgium indicate that a great deal more must be done before the problem will be solved.

Dr. May declared that the Georgia-Carolina steamship, to sail from Charleston, January 25, is being counted on by the workers in Belgium, and that every effort will be made to have a full cargo on board, when the ship sails. He fears no interference from Germany to the landing of the ship, nor the distribution of the provisions it will contain.

ENORMOUS SHOE SALE BY FRED S. STEWART

Hundreds of Prospective Purchasers Turned Away From the Doors.

The largest shoe sale ever held in this section of the country was launched Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock by the Fred S. Stewart company, 25 Whitehall street. Although an extra large sales force was on hand to cope with the crowd, hundreds were turned away yesterday.

However, immense numbers of bargains still remain and the sale will be continued.

As announced in yesterday's Constitution, the sale is strictly cash and no exchanges or refunds will be allowed.

According to the managers, the reason for these great sales each season is that they have a rule not to carry over any stock as long as one year. By this plan they are able to keep always on hand a stock entirely up to date and attractive. They can, therefore, offer their customers the choicest styles of seasonable shoes for men, women, misses, boys and children at remarkably low prices.

Every effort will be made by the sales force to wait upon the public promptly and satisfactorily.

ELABORATE BANQUET GIVEN AT ANSLEY TO I. A. OF MACHINISTS

An elaborate reception and banquet was tendered at the Ansley hotel last night by the Atlanta branch of the International Association of Machinists to the president and executive committee.

The president is William H. Johnston, of Washington, and the executive committee is composed of E. T. Nicholson, of Salt Lake City, Utah; James Summerville, of Canada, and E. L. Tucker, of Washington. Mike Riley, of the Atlanta order, presided as toastmaster.

The International Association of Machinists was established in Atlanta in 1880, and spread quickly over the world. It was in honor of the branch that had organized the order that the president and executive committee came south to attend the reception.

The Atlanta branch will hold public inauguration exercises in the Auditorium tonight, at which officers will be installed.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

J. H. Ewing, trustee for the Wolfsheimer estate, sold a number of the lots of that estate, fronting on the belt line of the Atlanta and West Point, the sales being subject to the confirmation of the bankruptcy court. The aggregate consideration for the lots was $5,901 cash. The lots are located on Vannoy, Wiley, Dahlgren, Pine and Fifth streets.

John J. Woodside Retires.

John J. Woodside, who has been in the real estate and renting business in Atlanta since 1880, and has built up one of the largest and most systematic renting businesses in the southern states, retired from business December 31 last, on account of bad health.

He still retains the presidency of the John J. Woodside Storage company, Inc.

On May 14, 1914, the business of John J. Woodside, which Mr. Woodside had until that time handled alone, was consolidated with that of Sharp, Boylston & Day. The firm then became Woodside, Sharp, Boylston & Day. The firm of Sharp, Boylston & Day has the wishes of Mr. Woodside for continued success.

Mr. Woodside is now in Florida. Upon his return to Atlanta he will devote his time to his storage business.
